

July 2019

Dear Student

With the start of the next academic year getting closer, I am writing to give you a little more information about the start of your MSc programme at LSE. At this stage, we would like you to give us some indication of your research interests so we can match you to a suitable academic supervisor. We also want to update you on dates and events at the start of term.

ACADEMIC MENTOR ALLOCATION:

If you have not already done so, please select keywords that best represent your interests so that we can allocate you to an appropriate supervisor. The link is here: <https://forms.gle/qmruAwFUcZBqDZPK9> (if your browser automatically reverts to Explorer, you may find it easier to copy and paste the link into Chrome). As well as being your first point of contact when you arrive at LSE, your Academic Mentor will supervise your dissertation

PROGRAMME REGISTRATION AND DEPARTMENT MEETINGS:

The academic year begins with a number of different events that you need to attend. Add them to your diaries and ensure that you DON'T MISS these meetings, as they will cover the things you need to know about the programme, and there will be the opportunity to meet the teaching staff.

Wednesday 28th August:

Main School Registration – 1pm, Clement House

Wednesday 25th September:

Programme Induction for MSc Quantitative Economic History – 12noon, OLD 323

Thursday 26th September:

Department Induction (all MSc Programmes) – 4pm, CLM 202

Welcome Party (all new MSc and PhD students) – 6pm, The Inn of Court, Holborn

PRELIMINARY READING:

There is no requirement, or expectation, that you should begin work before you arrive, but nevertheless we know that some students like to look at some of the material that they will be studying before they arrive. If this is you, then you can find course descriptions and introductory reading lists at:

http://www.lse.ac.uk/resources/calendar/courseGuides/graduate.htm?from_serp=1#generated-subheading5

(Click on 'EH' at top of page).

(Please note: courses are still showing information for the 2018-19 academic year and will be updated to reflect any changes by the end of August).

A more general list of introductory books relating to different aspects of Economic History can be found here: <http://www.lse.ac.uk/Economic-History/Study/mastersprogrammes/Offer-Holders-2019-20> (click on 'Preliminary Reading').

COURSE CHOICE:

Please also keep an eye on: <http://www.lse.ac.uk/Economic-History/Study/mastersprogrammes/MSc-Quantitative-Economic-History> for full details of your programme.

Teaching begins on Monday 30th September.

Please do keep an eye on our New Arrivals page: <http://www.lse.ac.uk/Economic-History/Study/mastersprogrammes/Offer-Holders-2019-20> as this information, and more, is repeated there and will be updated regularly.

Download the Student Hub app before you arrive on campus

The Student Hub is LSE's app, designed to help you navigate your day-to-day life at LSE. You can download the Student Hub from 15 August to start connecting with your department and course mates, and get information to help you familiarise yourself with everything that LSE has to offer. With the Student Hub, you can view your timetable and upcoming deadlines, find your way around campus and keep up to date with news and events from your Department and the wider School. You can also book appointments with academics or support services, and create groups with friends to carry on the conversation outside of class. Find out more here: https://info.lse.ac.uk/current-students/student-hub?from_serp=1

You can follow the department on Twitter: <https://twitter.com/LSEEcHist>; or Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/LSEEconomicHistoryDepartment/> and there is also a page for students following our Masters' programme: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/19320108373/>

Please do not hesitate to contact either of us should you require any further information.

Best wishes,

Kent Deng, MSc Tutor
(020) 7955 6163 e-mail: k.g.deng@lse.ac.uk

Tracy Keefe, MSc Programmes Manager
(020) 7955 7860 e-mail: t.j.keefe@lse.ac.uk

- 1. This information is being sent to everyone offered a place. If your offer is conditional, you must, of course, fulfil the conditions of your offer letter to commence the programme. If you have decided not to accept your offer, please let us know, and disregard this letter.
- 2. If English is not your first language, you should be aware that students who meet the minimum formal requirements in this respect sometimes find that they are at a disadvantage when the course begins. If you are not confident that your English is adequate, it may be a good idea to take lessons over the summer and again after you arrive, and contact the LSE Language Centre before term begins:
<http://www2.lse.ac.uk/language/Home.aspx>