

Contributors

CHRISTOPHER COATS is an energy researcher and reporter on the Mediterranean region as a contributor to Forbes. He completed his graduate studies at the New York University's Center for European and Mediterranean Studies programme, with a focus on the region's economic development and sustainability. He now researches and writes news and commentary pieces on the energy sector in the Mediterranean region.

MICHAEL CODNER is Senior Research Fellow in Military Sciences at the Royal United Services Institute (RUSI). He researches a range of subjects including defence policies, strategic theory, maritime studies and future concepts. He lectures widely at universities and military staff colleges. As a naval officer he was the lead author for the Royal Navy's first strategic doctrine publication and has written many articles, papers and chapters in journals and collections.

DR EMMA DE ANGELIS is Editor of the RUSI Journal. She recently completed a doctoral thesis on the European Parliament's identity discourse and EU enlargement at the LSE. In 2009-2010, Emma was a Scouloudi Fellow at the Institute of Historical Research, London. Between September 2010 and October 2011 she was managing editor of the journal Cold War History.

PROFESSOR PAUL DE GRAUWE is the John Paulson Chair in European Political Economy and was the Head of the European Institute. Prior to joining LSE, Paul De Grauwe was Professor of International Economics at the University of Leuven, Belgium and was a member of the Belgian parliament from 1991 to 2003. He was a member of the Group of Economic Policy Analysis, advising President Barroso. He is also director of the money, macro and international finance research network of CESifo, University of Munich. He is a research fellow at the Centre for European Policy Studies in Brussels.

DR EIRINI KARAMOUI is the Deputy Head of the Southern Europe International Affairs Programme at LSE IDEAS. She is currently a Max Weber Fellow at the EUI and was a Lecturer of European Studies and History at Yale University for the academic year 2012- 2013. Eirini Karamouzi completed her PhD in International History department at LSE and her forthcoming monograph Greece, the EEC and the Cold War, 1974-1979 will be published by Palgrave Macmillan in 2014.

ZOI KOUSTOUMPARDI is the Programme Assistant for the LSE IDEAS Southern Europe International Affairs Programme. She holds an MSc in International History from the LSE and her Masters dissertation focused on Britain's policy towards Greece, during the period of transition, 1974-1975.

DR EFFIE G. H. PEDALIU is a Fellow at LSE IDEAS. She is the author of Britain, Italy and the Origins of the Cold War, (Palgrave, 2003) and the co-editor of Britain in Global Affairs, Volume II, From Churchill to Blair, Palgrave/Macmillan (2013). Her articles have appeared in Diplomatic History, International History Review, Journal of Contemporary History, Cold War History and Diplomacy and Statecraft. Her book The Contemporary Mediterranean World will be published by Routledge in 2014. Dr Pedaliu is a member of the peer review college of the AHRC, a co-convenor of the International History Seminar (IHR) and a co-editor with John W. Young of the Palgrave/Macmillan book series, Security Conflict and Cooperation in the Contemporary World.

PROFESSOR ANNA TRIANDAFYLIDOU directs the Cultural Pluralism Research Strand in the Global Governance Programme of the European University Institute. She is the Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Immigrant and Refugee Studies. She teaches as a Visiting Professor at the College of Europe in Bruges, since 2002. Her recent books include Migrant Smuggling (2012, Palgrave, with T. Maroukis) Irregular Migrant Domestic Workers in Europe: Who Cares? (2013, ed., Ashgate); Circular Migration between Europe and its Neighbourhood (2013, ed., Oxford University Press); The Greek Crisis and Modernity in Europe (with R. Gropas and H. Kouki, eds, Palgrave, 2013, also in Greek, by Kritiki).

DR SARAH WOLFF is currently Lecturer in Public Policy at Queen Mary University of London and Senior Research Associate Fellow at Netherlands Institute for International Relations Clingendael. Dr Wolff is an expert on the EU's external relations, in particular with the Arab world and Justice and Home Affairs. Her book The Mediterranean Dimension of the European Union's Internal Security (Palgrave, 2012) builds upon extensive fieldwork in Europe, Morocco, Egypt and Jordan.

PROFESSOR NUNO SEVERIANO TEIXEIRA received his PhD from EUI (1994) and is currently Professor of International Relations and Vice-Rector of NOVA University, Lisbon. He is also Director of the Portuguese Institute of International Relations. He was Visiting Professor and Senior Scholar in several European and North-American Universities. He has served as Minister of Interior (2000/2002) and Minister of National Defence (2006/2009) of the Portuguese Government.

ANA SANTOS PINTO is Lecturer at the Department of Political Studies of NOVA University, Lisbon and Researcher at the Portuguese Institute of International Relations and at the National Defence Institute (Lisbon). She worked as Research Consultant to the UN Alliance of Civilizations (2008-2010), Advisor of the Portuguese Minister of National Defence (2006 - 2009) and Research Assistant at the Portuguese Institute of Strategic and International Studies (2001-2003).