

Most graduates on the MSc City Design and Social Science secure jobs by the time they have completed their Master's programme. If this is your aim, the following contacts might be useful in searching for career opportunities within the fields.

Specialist recruitment agencies:

- Bespoke – recruits architects, graphic designers, interior designers & support staff in London, permanent and contact positions – www.bespokecareers.com
- Bespoke recruitment – a different firm recruiting in the building and construction sector, also includes housing, design, and project management positions, temporary and permanent www.bespoke-recruitment.co.uk
- MacDonald and Company – professional recruitment consultancy for the property industry and built environment www.macdonaldandcompany.com
- Adrem – architecture and design – www.adrem.uk.com
- Allen and York – environment, planning and built environment – www.allen-york.com

Specialist publications:

- BD (Building Design) – www.bdonline.co.uk
- Regeneration and Renewal – www.regen.net

Both of these journals include employment ads, but a good strategy can be to directly target firms and organisations of interest to you that area covered in the articles and editorial content.

Cities alumni

Graduates of the Cities Programme are a valuable resource in providing contacts, information and access to opportunities. The Cities programme holds alumni evenings to give current students the opportunity to meet with alumni, and graduates take part in Studio activities and Cities events.

LSE Careers

LSE Careers provides a varied and comprehensive careers guidance and employment service for students seeking information on graduate employment and further study. LSE Careers offers dedicated workshops for Cities Programme students during the Lent term and Careers staff are available for one-to-one consultations and advice.
