LSE's Department of Accounting Student Newsletter

24/09/19

Dear «Forename»

WELCOME to the start of term

Your first year at LSE is a unique and occasionally challenging time. From time management, course choices and working on those first assignments, to best places to eat, how to save money, and how to find your way around London, your fellow students in your department have the inside scoop on all aspects of life at LSE.

Want to get insider tips on how to thrive in LSE? Want to meet new people on your course and build your own support network?

The Student Academic Mentorship (SAM) programme will enable you to hear from the people who have been where you are, had some difficult and some positive moments in their studies, and made it through successfully: senior students in your department.

You will be matched with a student mentor from your department, and you will get regular opportunities to meet your mentor and benefit from integrating into LSE's dynamic community.

Sign up for a student mentor at sammentorsignup or Form https://lse.eu.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV\_9slv2bW8QJKinQh

FIRSTSTEPS

Thurs 27 Sep, 14.30-16.30
Workspace Four @LSE Life

The First Steps workshop will focus getting to know your classmates and team building and to have fun. The main activity will be organised by an EventUs in the LSE Life in the Library. Please meet promptly at 14.20 outside the main entrance of the Library in the John Watkins Plaza. From there you will be taken to LSE Life, Workspace 4.

Calendar appointment to follow.

Update: Professional Services Team

Justin Adams has taken over the role of BSc Programme Manager from Sandra Ma. Justin is based in room OLD 3.22 and will oversee the BSc Programme.

Sandra remains part of the Department as the Student Community and Operations Manager. Also joining the team is Jack Heany as the Department of Accounting Administrator.

STAYING CONNECTED

As of Friday 28 September, the Department will be sending email through your LSE email account and not your personal email. Please ensure that you contact details are up to date on LSE for You.
