

Congratulations and Welcome!

Congratulations on your offer of a place on the MRes/PhD programme. Welcome to the Department of Economics and to LSE! LSE is a wonderful institution leading in the study of social sciences. With our students coming from over 133 countries we really are a global community rooted in the heart of London. LSE alumni and faculty members have been awarded 18 Nobel Prizes in economics, peace and literature. At least 34 past or present prime ministers, presidents and premiers have come from the school.

We are thrilled you will be returning to the Department and look forward to seeing you again in September. In the meantime, here's some information on your programme. Keep up-to-date with our news and follow us on Twitter or like our Facebook page.

Your MRes Programme: What to do now?

If you haven't already done so, we encourage you to accept your offer of a place with us. Simply go to your LSE for You account and complete the offer reply form. There's a really useful checklist of what to do once you have received your offer in your graduate offer pack – do use this list, it will help you!

Remember to check your offer holder letter and conditions of your offer (if any) carefully. Information on conditions and how to submit documentation can be found in your offer pack. Any documentation regarding your offer should be sent to the Graduate Admissions Office as early as possible

5 Minute Read

Want to do some pre-programme reading? Professors Nava Ashraf and Oriana Bandiera look at how organisations and employees can make work more satisfying through the development of altruistic behaviour. You can read their paper here and watch the LSE Research You Tube video below:
