We hope this will be the start of an interesting, challenging and rewarding experience for you as a postgraduate student within the Department of Economics. Your programme aims to equip you with the tools of the professional economist, for work in government, international organisations, business, or as preparation for economics research.

Our MSc programmes have a very competitive admissions process and you have been carefully selected from a high number of applicants this year; to have become an offer holder is a tremendous achievement!

LSE is a wonderful institution leading in the study of social sciences. With our students coming from over 133 countries we really are a global community rooted in the heart of London. LSE alumni and faculty members have been awarded 18 Nobel Prizes in economics, peace and literature. At least 34 past or present prime ministers, presidents and premiers have come from the School.

Your Offer: what you need to do now!

If you haven't already done so, we encourage you to accept your offer of a place with us. Simply go to your LSE for You account and complete the offer reply form. There's a really useful checklist of what to do once you have received your offer in your graduate offer pack – do use this list, it will help you!

Remember to check your offer letter and conditions of your offer (if any) carefully. Information on conditions and how to submit documentation can be found in your offer pack. Any documentation regarding your offer should be sent to the Graduate Admissions Office as early as possible
