

PROGRAMME

23 June 2016

LSE

REFERENDUM NIGHT 2016

European
Institute

The UK in a
Changing Europe

Introduction

Welcome to LSE's
Referendum Night
hosted by the LSE
European Institute,
in partnership with The UK in a Changing Europe.

Tonight's event is the culmination of a series of public debates and lectures we have hosted on the issues posed by the referendum. Indeed, we have welcomed several thousand guests to our events this last year.

And, on 7 June, we published the Report of the "LSE Commission on the Future of Britain in Europe". This was an analysis of the evidence obtained in hearings held with experts, practitioners, politicians, and representatives of business, trade unions and other social bodies. Eleven hearings covered a broad range of sectors and themes.

The LSE is one of the most "European" universities in the world: not only in its student intake or faculty, but also in the focus of its research. It has one of the largest concentrations of expertise on Europe to be found anywhere. The role of the European Institute is to harness these strengths as a hub within LSE.

The European Institute has a strong profile for its research and public engagement. It has, successively (RAE2008 and REF2014), been ranked top in the UK by the independent audit instigated by the British Government for its research. It offers one of the largest programmes for post-graduate study on contemporary Europe amongst its peer institutions.

This referendum represents a momentous point in Britain's relationship with the European Union. If the vote is for "Brexit", a set of negotiations will confront a complex and, perhaps, prolonged agenda that is without precedent. It will envelop policy-making in the UK and be a major focus for the EU as a whole. If the vote is to "remain", then the UK Government has promised a new kind of relationship with the EU. The referendum campaign has confirmed the political strength of "euro-scepticism" in British politics.

In short, we are witnessing an event of major importance to the future of Britain. As such, it is fitting that LSE is at the centre of the debate as to its implications. On behalf of my colleagues and I, we welcome you and hope you will join in the discussions.

Professor Kevin Featherstone
Head, European Institute, LSE.

Contents

About the LSE European Institute	2
About The UK in a Changing Europe	3
Schedule of Panels	4-7
Panellists and Chairs (alphabetical order)	8-15
Media Relations Office	16
Social Media and Blogs	17
Post-Referendum Events	19
Helpful Information	20

About the European Institute

LSE

European Institute

Since 1991 the European Institute has helped to secure LSE's position as one of the leading platforms for debate in the European Union. The Institute has informed public discussion about the identity of Europe and the many policy challenges confronting the EU and its member states. We host over 100 events a year, featuring an array of high-level speakers from the fields of politics, public administration and EU institutions.

The European Institute also offers a world-class Masters and Doctoral programme, with students benefiting from the expertise of academics in the Institute and LSE, as well as distinguished visiting faculty and high-level policy makers. The European Institute is a world-leading centre for research, ranked first in Area Studies (including European Studies) in the latest national Research Excellence Framework (2014) as well as in the previous national Research Assessment Exercise (2008).

lse.ac.uk/EuropeanInstitute

@LSEEI

facebook.com/lseeuroinst

youtube.com/lseeuroinst

About The UK in a Changing Europe

The UK in a Changing Europe promotes rigorous, high-quality and independent research into the complex and ever changing relationship between the UK and the European Union (EU).

It provides an authoritative, non-partisan and impartial reference point for those looking for information, insights and analysis about UK-EU relations that stands aside from the politics surrounding the debate.

In its short existence it has developed a reputation as the place to come to for independent, impartial and authoritative information about UK-EU issues. It is frequently called upon by MPs, civil servants, Parliament, the media, businesses, civil society organisations, educational institutions and the general public to provide briefings, interviews and talks.

ukandeu.ac.uk

@UKandEU

facebook.com/esrc.ukandeu

Schedule of Panels

20:00 start and 03:00 finish

Start	Finish	Activity
20:00	21:00	Location: Lower ground floor, New Academic Building Open House with opportunities for media to talk to LSE and UK in a Changing Europe experts. Drinks and canapes will be served.
21:00		Location: Sheikh Zayed Theatre Welcome by Kevin Featherstone, Head of LSE European Institute. Welcome by moderator Conor Gearty, Director, Institute of Public affairs; Professor of Human Rights Law, LSE Introductory remarks by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Craig Calhoun, Director, LSE • Anand Menon, Director of UK in a Changing Europe; Professor King's College
21:15	22:00	Location: Sheikh Zayed Theatre THE ELECTORATE: HOW DO PEOPLE CHOOSE THEIR VOTE? Chair: Conor Gearty Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sara Hobolt, Professor, Sutherland Chair In European Institutions, LSE • Matthew Goodwin, Senior Fellow, The UK in a Changing Europe; Professor of Politics and International Relations, University of Kent • Anthony Wells, Director of Political and Social Research, YouGov (TBC) • Simon Hix, Harold Laski Professor of Political Science, LSE; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe
22:00	22:15	Location: Sheikh Zayed Theatre WHAT TO EXPECT TONIGHT Speakers: Tony Travers, Professor; Director of LSE London, LSE Simon Hix, Harold Laski Professor of Political Science, LSE; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe

Start	Finish	Activity
22.15	23.00	Location: Sheikh Zayed Theatre IMPLICATIONS FOR BRITISH POLITICS Chair: Tony Travers Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Patrick Dunleavy, Professor of Political Science and Public Policy, LSE • Jo Hunt, Reader, Cardiff University School of Law; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe (TBC) • Sue Cameron, The Daily Telegraph
23.00	23.15	Break
23.15	00.00	Location: Sheikh Zayed Theatre THE HARD BARGAIN: LEGAL SETTLEMENT FOR UK INSIDE/OUTSIDE THE EU Chair: Conor Gearty Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Damian Chalmers, Professor of European Union Law, LSE; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe • Claus Grube, The Danish Ambassador to the UK • Michel Petite, Clifford Change; former Director-General, Legal Service of the European Commission • Catherine Barnard, Professor of European Union Law, University of Cambridge; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe
00.10	00.55	Location: Sheikh Zayed Theatre THE ECONOMY Chair: Conor Gearty Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Angus Armstrong, Director of Macroeconomics, NIESR; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe • Vicky Pryce, Board Member, Centre for Economics and Business Research • Iain Begg, Professorial Research Fellow, LSE; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe • John Van Reenen, Director of LSE Centre for Economic Performance (TBC)

Schedule of Panels

Start	Finish	Activity
01.00	01.45	Location: Sheikh Zayed Theatre UK AND EUROPE – WHAT WILL CHANGE? Chair: Conor Gearty Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Danuta Hübner, MEP and former European Commissioner of Regional Policy • Quentin Peel, Associate Fellow, Europe Programme, Chatham House • Luis Garicano, Professor of Economics and Strategy and Head of the Managerial Economics and Strategy Group, LSE • Sylvie Bermann, Ambassador of France to the UK (TBC)
01.45 (estimated)	01.55	Concluding remarks: Kevin Featherstone
01:55	03:00	BBC NEWS SCREENING
The following sessions will run concurrently with the panels listed above. The screening of the BBC 1975 EU Referendum programme will run from 22:00 in the Alumni Theatre.
23:00	23:45	Location: Wolfson Theatre SESSION 1: THE CASE FOR BREXIT Chair: Kevin Featherstone , Head of the European Institute, LSE Speaker: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Alan Sked, International History Department, LSE
00:00	00:45	Location: Wolfson Theatre SESSION 2: THE UK IN EUROPE AND THE WORLD Chair: TBC Speakers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Karen Smith, Professor of International Relations, LSE • Michael Cox, Professor Emeritus of International Relations, LSE • Stephen Woolcock, Associate Professor in International Relations, LSE
Times to be announced		Location: Thai Theatre SESSION 3: PRESS BRIEFINGS Speakers: LSE Academics and The UK in a Changing Europe experts

Start

Finish

Activity

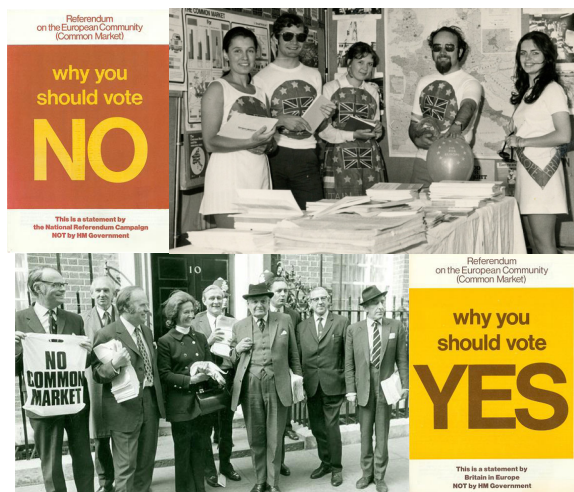

from 22:00
onwards

Location: Alumni Theatre

LSE LIBRARY: COLLECTIONS FROM 1975 AND 2016
REFERENDUMS AND SCREENING OF BBC 1975
COVERAGE FROM 22:00 ONWARDS

Guests:

• Sir David Butler, Emeritus Fellow, Nuffield College,
University of Oxford

All panels and sessions will be made available as a podcast after the event, subject to no technical difficulties

Canapes and finger food will be available during the evening. Tea, coffee, water and juice will be served throughout.

A bar (accepting cash and card payment) will operate from 20:00 until 02:00.

Drinks vouchers will be given out on registration

Biographies of Speakers and Chairs

Dr Angus Armstrong

Director of Macroeconomics, National Institute of Economic and Social Research (NIESR); Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe Initiative

Dr Angus Armstrong is Director of Macroeconomics at the National Institute of Economic and Social Research (NIESR). Previously he has held positions as Chief Economist for Asia and Managing Director at Deutsche Bank, and as Head of Macroeconomic Analysis at the HM Treasury. Dr Armstrong was an Senior Fellow in the lead up to the Scottish Referendum, covering currency and debt options. In his current work, Dr Armstrong assesses the costs and benefits of EU membership for UK's financial services.

Professor Catherine Barnard

Professor of European Union Law, University of Cambridge; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe Initiative

Professor Catherine Barnard is Professor in European Union Law and Employment Law at Cambridge University and senior tutor and fellow at Trinity College. She has advised the government over the Balance of Competences Review. Professor Catherine Barnard has published extensively on European Union law, labour and discrimination law, and competition law. Her most recent books include European Union Law (Oxford University Press), The Substantive Law of the EU: The Four Freedoms (Oxford University Press, 4th edition) and EU Employment Law (Oxford University Press, 4th edition). In her current work she focuses on the experience of EU migrant workers in the UK.

Professor Iain Begg

LSE: Professorial Research Fellow, European Institute; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe Initiative

Professor Iain Begg works on issues related to the political economy of European integration and EU economic governance. He has directed and participated in a series of research projects on different facets of EU policy; currently being involved with projects concerning governance of EU economic and social policy, the EU's Europe 2020 strategy, evaluation of EU cohesion policy and reform of the EU budget, policy co-ordination under EMU, and the social impact of globalisation. He is co-editor of the Journal of Common Market Studies, and has served as an expert witness or specialist adviser on EU issues for the House of Commons Treasury Committee, the House of Lords European Communities Committee, and the European Parliament.

Professor Sir David Butler CBE

Emeritus Fellow, Nuffield College, University of Oxford

Sir David Butler has undertaken the Nuffield Election Studies of each UK General Election since 1945 alongside co-authors including Richard Rose and Anthony King and Dennis Kavanagh. He was a prominent on-screen expert on the BBC's election night coverage from the 1950 election to the 1979 election, and was a co-inventor of the "swingometer". He has since appeared as an electoral analyst on various television and radio programmes, including for ITV on the night of the 1997 general election, and Sky News election night coverage in 2001. He was knighted in the 2011 New Year Honours for services to political science.

Professor Craig Calhoun

LSE: Director of LSE

Professor Craig Calhoun is a world-renowned social scientist whose work connects sociology to culture, communication, politics, philosophy and economics. With Richard Sennett, Professor of Sociology at LSE, he co-founded the NYLON programme which brings together graduate students from New York and London for co-operative research programmes. He took up his post as LSE Director in September 2012, having left the United States where he was University Professor at New York University and director of the Institute for Public Knowledge and President of the Social Science Research Council.

Professor Damian Chalmers

LSE: Professor of European Union Law, Department of Law; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe Initiative

Professor Damian Chalmers' research focuses on the relationship between European Union law and domestic systems of government. Professor Chalmers is currently investigating the UK's relationship with the EU; particularly focusing on the protection of UK democracy, whether inside or outside the European Union. His other research interests include reflexivity in understanding EU law: examining patterns of litigation to see who it is used by, and whether that should shape understandings of it; and visions of ourselves as a central identifying element of EU law.

Sue Cameron

Columnist, The Daily Telegraph

Ms Sue Cameron is a columnist for The Daily Telegraph and a former presenter of Newsnight, Channel Four News and the ITN Parliament Programme. She specialises in UK politics and is renowned for her contacts in Whitehall, and her writings about the Government's relationship with the Civil Service.

Professor Emeritus Michael Cox

LSE: Emeritus Professor of International Relations, Department of International Relations; Director, LSE IDEAS

Professor Michael Cox is an expert in foreign policy of the US and American grand strategy. His research interests include Britain and the US, world politics after 11 September, the trans-Atlantic relationship in crisis, the history of the Cold War and post-Cold War international relations. Professor Cox is a well-known speaker on global affairs internationally, and serves on the editorial board of several academic journals. Additionally he has been Editor of several leading journals including: The Review of International Studies, International Relations, Cold War History, and International Politics.

Professor Patrick Dunleavy

LSE: Professor of Political Science and Public Policy, Department of Government

Professor Patrick Dunleavy has consulted widely on new electoral systems in the UK and overseas, and jointly designed the electoral systems used for the London Assembly and London Mayor elections. Professor Dunleavy's research interests broadly cover six areas: The development of large-scale, modern public policy systems and future trends in public management; rational choice theories of bureaucracy, public administration and public management; the design of large-scale electoral systems; "competition space", electoral analysis and party politics; public choice theory and modern political science; and modern political theory relating to liberal democratic governance.

Professor Kevin Featherstone

LSE: Head of the European Institute; Eleftherios Venizelos Professor of Contemporary Greek Studies; Co-Chair of LSEE: Research on South-East Europe

Professor Kevin Featherstone has published extensively on the politics of the European Union and the politics of contemporary Greece; his work has been framed in the perspectives of comparative politics, public policy, political economy and processes of "Europeanization". He is the first foreign member of the National Council for Research and Technology (ESET) in Greece, and in 2009/10 he served on an advisory committee for the reform of the Greek government.

Professor Luis Garicano

LSE: Professor of Economics and Strategy, Department of Management

Professor Luis Garicano is a renowned economist. Professor Garicano has worked as an economist for the European Commission and has been involved in efforts to promote structural reforms in the Spanish economy. In particular he has co-authored proposals to reform the labour markets, housing markets, and the pension and health systems. He recently wrote a bestselling book on these reforms El Dilema de Espana (Destino 2014)

Professor Conor Gearty

LSE: Director, Institute of Public Affairs; Professor of Human Rights Law, Department of Law

Professor Conor Gearty is a founding member of Matrix chambers and a practicing barrister. He has been a frequent adviser to judges, practitioners and public authorities on the implications of the UK Human Rights Act, and has appeared in human rights cases in the House of Lords, the Court of Appeal and the High Court. His research interests include terrorism, human rights and civil liberties, on which he has published widely.

Professor Matthew Goodwin

Professor of Politics and International Relations, University of Kent; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe Initiative

Professor Matthew Goodwin joined the University of Kent in 2015 and is known for his work on Britain and Europe, radicalism, immigration and Euroscepticism. In 2015 he was awarded a Senior Fellowship on the UK in a Changing Europe programme. He is currently working with the Chatham House on Euroscepticism and Britain's EU referendum.

His Excellency Mr Claus Grube

Danish Ambassador to the UK

Mr Claus Grube has been the Ambassador to the Court of St. James's since 1st October 2013. He has had an extensive career within the Ministry of Foreign Affairs where he has held several senior positions. He graduated in Law from Copenhagen University in 1976. After a short stint in the Ministry of Justice he entered the Danish Foreign Service in 1977. From 2000-2009 he was Ambassador to the EU representation in Brussels and from 2009-2013 he was Permanent Secretary of State at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Denmark.

Dr Sara Hagemann

LSE: Assistant Professor, European Institute; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe Initiative

Dr Sara Hagemann draws on a mix of academic and policy experience, having held research and policy positions in Brussels, Copenhagen and London. Dr Hagemann has published extensively on European affairs, in particular on transparency and accountability in political systems, EU policy-making processes, EU treaty matters, the role of national parliaments, and the consequences of EU enlargements. She is a frequent commentator on EU affairs in both international and national media, is the Co-Founder and General Editor of the LSE's popular European Politics blog EUROPP, and is co-Founder and former Managing Director of VoteWatch.eu (www.votewatch.eu) a transparency organisation based in Brussels reporting on EU legislators' voting records and political activities.

Professor Sara Hobolt

LSE: Sutherland Chair in European Institutions, European Institute

Professor Sara Hobolt has published extensively on European Union politics, elections and referendums. Professor Hobolt is a frequent media commentator and has acted as the BBC television election expert in the 2009 and 2014 European elections. In 2011, she received the APSA emerging scholar award for her contribution to the field of elections, public opinion and voting behaviour. She is Vice Chair of the European Election Studies (EES), an EU-wide project studying voters, parties, candidates and the media in European Parliamentary elections, and is currently working on a Leverhulme Trust-funded project on the public constraint on European integration.

Professor Simon Hix

LSE: Harold Laski Professor of Political Science, Department of Government; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe Initiative

Professor Simon Hix is a distinguished scholar and co-editor of the journal European Union Politics. He has extensive consultancy experience, including for the UK Cabinet Office and Foreign and Commonwealth Office, the European Parliament, the European Commission, the European Policy Centre, the Asian Development Bank, and has given evidence to the European affairs committees in the House of Lords and House of Commons. His primary research areas include European Politics and Policy; the EU legislative process and the European Parliament; Parties and elections; and rational choice theory.

Professor Danuta Hübner MEP

Member of the European Parliament, Chair of the Committee for Regional Development in the European Parliament

Professor Danuta Hübner is a Member of the European Parliament, Chair of the Committee for Regional Development in the European Parliament. She was Poland's first-ever European Commissioner from 2004 to 2009 for Regional Policy, and is one of her country's foremost economists and policymakers, playing a key role in the enlargement of the EU.

Dr Jo Hunt

Reader, School of Law and Politics, Cardiff University; Senior Fellow, UK in a Changing Europe Initiative

Dr Jo Hunt is an expert in EU law and its implications for the UK, particularly with respect to how it may be applied differently across the devolved regions. Her research interests include: regionalism and decentralisation within the framework of the EU, EU law, and theories of EU integration and governance. As UK in a Changing Europe Initiative Senior Fellow, she is looking at the devolution of legal powers to Wales in the context of the UK's membership of the EU.

Professor Anand Menon

Professor of European Politics and Foreign Affairs,
Kings College London; Director of the UK in a Changing
Europe Initiative

Anand Menon is Professor of European Politics and Foreign Affairs at Kings College London. He also directs The UK in a Changing Europe initiative (www.ukandeu.ac.uk). Previously, he was Director of the European Research Institute at the University of Birmingham. Prior to this, he taught at the University of Oxford (St Antony's College). He has held positions at Sciences Po, Columbia University and NYU. He has written on many aspects of contemporary Europe including the EU politics and institutions and European security. He is co-editor of the Oxford Handbook of the European Union (OUP, 2012) and author, amongst other things, of Europe: The State of the Union (Atlantic Books 2008).

Quentin Peel

Associate Fellow, Europe Programme, Chatham House

Mr Quentin Peel is an associate fellow attached to the Europe Programme at the Chatham House in London, and a freelance commentator for the Financial Times. He previously held a one-year Mercator senior fellowship at Chatham House. In a long career at the FT, he was foreign editor and an assistant editor of the newspaper from 1994-98, and chief foreign affairs columnist from 1998-2008. Before that, he was FT correspondent in Johannesburg (1976-81), Africa editor (1981-84), and bureau chief in Brussels (1984-87), Moscow (1988-91), Bonn (1991-94) and Berlin (2010-14). He is a regular speaker and broadcaster on international affairs for the BBC, CNN, Deutsche Welle, France-24, Radio France Internationale, RTE, and many others, with a particular focus on the European Union, transatlantic relations, Russia and Germany.

Michel Petite

Avocat of Counsel at Clifford Chance Europe LLP
(since 2008); Board Member, Centre for European Reform (since 2013).

Mr Michel Petite is the former Director-General of the European Commission Legal Service, and is currently Avocat of Counsel at Clifford Chance Europe, in Paris. Mr Petite has in his capacity as Director-General in the European Commission been legal advisor to three Commission Presidents and participated in a long series of institutional reforms. Mr Petite continues to specialise in European Commission policies, community law and competition law, working in close co-operation with practice groups such as antitrust, trade, banking, taxation and government relations and public policy and international commercial law and litigation at the World Trade Organisation Court.

Vicky Pryce

Board Member, Centre for Economics and Business Research

Ms Vicky Pryce is a renowned economist and business consultant.

Ms Pryce has recently held posts as Senior Managing Director at FTI Consulting,(2010-2013), Director General for Economics at the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (BIS)(2002-2010) and as Joint Head of the UK Government Economic Service . Before that she was Partner at London Economics and Partner and Chief Economist at KPMG after holding senior economic positions in banking and the oil sector. At various stages in her career she has held a number of academic posts, and has also served on the Court of the London School of Economics and Political Science.

Professor Alan Sked

LSE: Professor in International History, Department of International History

Professor Alan Sked was a prize-winning undergraduate at the University of Glasgow after which he moved on to Merton College, Oxford, where he took his DPhil under the supervision of A.J.P. Taylor. He was appointed to the Department of International History at LSE before his thesis was completed and has remained here ever since. His research interests include: the Hapsburg Empire; Modern Europe and the United States. He is presently writing the Penguin History of Post-War (Western) Europe, which will also cover post-war Britain. Professor Sked is a Fellow of the Royal Historical Society.

Professor Karen Smith

LSE: Professor of International Relations, Department of International Relations, LSE; Director, LSE European Foreign Policy Unit

Professor Karen Smith has published extensively on the European Union, its foreign policy and position in global politics. In 2007 she was awarded the prestigious Anna Lindh Award for outstanding research on European foreign and security policy. Her work currently focuses on EU-UN relations and the role of human rights and other ethical issues in the EU's foreign policy.

Professor Tony Travers

LSE: Professor in Practice, Department of Government; Director, LSE London

Tony Travers' key research interests cover central and local government policy and finance, including a speciality in all aspects of local government structures, functions and finance. He has undertaken research into public sector regulation, and published on resource distribution mechanisms for local government and schools. He is currently an advisor to the House of Commons Children, Schools and Families Select Committee and the Communities and Local Government Select Committee.

Professor John Van Reenen

LSE: Professor of Economics, Department of Economics;
Director, LSE Centre for Economic Performance

Professor John Van Reenen has published widely on the economics of innovation, labour markets and productivity. As Director of LSE Centre for Economic Performance he has recently produced a number of reports and publications on the implications of Brexit on the UK's trade, foreign investment and living standards in the UK. Professor Van Reenen has previously served as a senior policy advisor to the Secretary of State for Health and other parts of the UK government. He is a partner in the economic consultancy Lexecon, and serves on the Editorial Board of the Journal of Industrial Economics.

Dr Stephen Woolcock

LSE: Associate Professor, Department of International Relations, LSE

Dr Stephen Woolcock heads the LSE's International Trade Policy Unit, and has published extensively on the international political economy, the political economy of international trade and economic diplomacy. Dr Woolcock is a frequent commentator in the media, and best-selling publications include European Union Economic Diplomacy (2013, Routledge).

Media Relations Office

If you're a journalist having trouble finding the expert you need, locating their research or arranging interviews and filming, then please contact the media relations office at LSE.

The main media relations number is 020 7955 7060 and the email address is pressoffice@lse.ac.uk

Or contact any one of the team direct:

Daniel O'Connor Head of Media Relations, LSE

 020 7955 7417

 oconnord@lse.ac.uk

Jess Winterstein Deputy Head of Media Relations, LSE

 020 7107 5025

 j.winterstein@lse.ac.uk

Candy Gibson Senior Media Relations Officer, LSE

 020 7955 7440

 c.gibson@lse.ac.uk

Jo Bale Senior Media Relations Officer, LSE

 07831 609679

 j.m.bale@lse.ac.uk

Sue Windebank Senior Media Relations Officer, LSE

 020 7849 4624

 s.windebank@lse.ac.uk

Peter Carrol Media Relations Officer, LSE

 020 7955 6939

 p.carrol@lse.ac.uk

Ben Miller Communications Project Officer, The UK in a Changing Europe

 020 7848 7174 / 07811 288 477

 ben.miller@kcl.ac.uk

For urgent out of hours enquires please call 07515 190722.

For a full online list of all LSE academic experts and expertise go to: lse.ac.uk/experts

Social Media and Blogs

Hashtag for the event: #LSEBrexitVote. Follow the event live at:

BrexitVoteBlog

The BrexitVote Blog is a multi-disciplinary, evidence-based blog run by the London School of Economics and Political Science. Our aim is to inform the debate surrounding the referendum on Britain's membership of the European Union with accessible commentary and research.

Managing Editors:

Ros Taylor, ✉ R.Taylor6@lse.ac.uk
Roch Dunin-Wąsowicz, ✉ duninwas@lse.ac.uk
@lsebrexitvote

LSEEUROPP Blog

EUROPP – European Politics and Policy is a multidisciplinary academic blog run by the London School of Economics and Political Science. Our central aim is to increase the public understanding of European politics and policy by providing accessible academic commentary and research. We have no editorial “line” beyond a commitment to communicating social science research and commentary in ways that enhance public debate and understanding.

Public Editors:

Stuart Brown, ✉ s.a.brown@lse.ac.uk
Tena Prelec, ✉ t.prelec@lse.ac.uk
@LSEEUROPPblog

British Politics and Policy Blog

BPP (British Politics and Policy) is a multidisciplinary academic blog run by the London School of Economics and Political Science. Our central aim is to increase the public understanding of British politics and policy by providing accessible academic commentary and research. We have no editorial “line” beyond a commitment to communicating social science research and commentary in ways that enhance public debate and understanding.

Editors:

Artemis Photiadou, ✉ a.photiadou@lse.ac.uk
Luke Temple, ✉ l.temple@lse.ac.uk
@LSEpoliticsblog

Post-Referendum Press Conference

Date: Monday 27 June

Time: from 08:30 to 10:00.

Location: Big Meeting Room, Virginia Woolf Building King's College London, 22 Kingsway, London, WC2B 6LE

Speakers are:

- Anand Menon, UK in a Changing Europe Director

The UK in a Changing Europe senior fellows:

- John Curtice
- Sara Hagemann
- Matthew Goodwin
- Simon Usherwood
- Catherine Barnard

Post-Referendum Event

Date: Tuesday 28 June

Time: 18:30 – 20:00

Location: Hong Kong Theatre, Clement House, LSE

Speakers: A panel of LSE and UK in a Changing Europe experts (TBC)

Helpful Information

Access

The New Academic Building is fully accessible. If you require further assistance during the evening, please contact security or a member of staff.

Bar

There will be a bar (accepting cash and card) available for additional beverage purchases.

Cloakroom

There is a cloakroom available for your convenience. It is free to use.

Opens 20:00 – 03:00

Fire Assembly Point

In the event of a fire, you will be directed to evacuate the building. The nearest assembly point is the south west corner of Lincolns Inn Field. This is directly opposite the New Academic Building.

Food and Beverages

Complimentary canapes and light refreshments will be served through the course of the night.

Hearing Aids

A wired induction loop is available in the Sheikh Zayed Theatre. Hearing aids should be set to the T-loop position.

Smoking

Smoking is not permitted anywhere on the LSE premises. The New Academic Building's allocated smoking area is located outside to the right of the building's main entrance. Please take care of our environment and use the bins provided.

Toilets

Toilets are located on both the lower ground floor and on the 1st floor.

Wi-Fi

Free WiFi is accessible on site. Please select "The Cloud" from the list of available networks on your smartphone. The Cloud's landing page will appear as the default home page on your internet browser. Please fill in the required registration details to gain WiFi access. If you are a LSE student or staff member, you will be able to access the eduroam network.

In addition to our panellists and experts, the European Institute and The UK in a Changing Europe are grateful to the following staff for their work to make possible the LSE Referendum Night: Jacqui Beazley, Carl-Ludwig Campbell, Neil Capps-Jenner, Phoebe Couzens, Spencer Javangwe, Claire Harrison, Ben Miller, Danny O'Connor, Marion Osborne, Emma Rees, Nigel Stead, Liz Trumble, Nicola Wright and Priyesh Varshani.

Design: LSE Design Unit (lse.ac.uk/designunit)

Photography: Nigel Stead, LSE Photographer (unless stated)

Cover: freeimages.com

p3: Charles Clegg (flickr.com/photos/glasgowamateur/7892308660/)

Hashtag for the event: #LSEBrexitVote

Follow the event live at:

European Institute
The London School of Economics and Political Science
Houghton Street
London
WC2A 2AE

Tel: 44 (0)20 7849 4646

Email: europeaninstitute@lse.ac.uk

The UK in a Changing Europe
Virginia Woolf Building
King's College London
22 Kingsway
London
WC2B 6LE

Tel: 44 (0)20 7848 7174

UKandEU@kcl.ac.uk