

~ Feminist Judgment ~
A One-Day Symposium

Co-hosted by the LSE Gender Institute and Department of Government

10.00am–5.30pm, Friday 25 May 2012
 Wolfson Theatre, New Academic Building, LSE

PROGRAMME

- 09.30 Registration with tea and coffee
- 10.00 Introduction by Symposium Chair Anne Phillips, Professor of Political and Gender Theory and LSE Gender Institute Director
- 10.15 Toward a Democratic Theory of Judgment
Speaker: Linda Zerilli, Faculty Director at the Center for the Study of Gender and Sexuality and Charles E. Merriam Distinguished Service Professor of Political Science and the College, University of Chicago
Chair: Anne Phillips, Professor of Political and Gender Theory, LSE
- 11.30 The Two Faces of Judgment
Speaker: Jennifer Nedelsky, Professor in the Faculty of Law, University of Toronto
Chair: Linda Mulcahy, Professor in the Department of Law, LSE
- 12.45 Break for lunch
- 13.45 Feeling Judgment
Speaker: Clare Hemmings, Professor of Feminist Theory, LSE
Chair: Jonathan Dean, Lecturer in Political Theory, University of Leeds
- 14.55 Judging as Who We Are
Speaker: Sonia Kruks, Robert S. Danforth Professor of Politics at Oberlin College
Chair: Mary Evans, Centennial Professor, LSE Gender Institute
- 16.05 Break for tea and coffee
- 16.20 The Judgment of Violence and the Violence of Judgment: feminist reflections
Speaker: Kim Hutchings, Professor of International Relations, LSE
Chair: Sumi Madhok, Lecturer in Transnational Gender Studies, LSE
- 17.30 Reception at the LSE Gender Institute, Fifth Floor, Columbia House