

Putting Gender on the Map

The LSE Gender
Institute's First
Fifteen Years

Faith Armitage and Carolyn Pedwell

Gender Institute, The London School of Economics and Political Science

Contents

Acknowledgements	1	Gender-related courses at LSE	35
Foreword	2	Pedagogic Innovation	35
Marking 15 Years at the Gender Institute	4	Future Degrees and Teaching Programmes	37
Gender Institute Anniversary Public Lecture Series 2004-05	5	Research and Activities	38
Women into the 21st Century Debate Series 2004-05	6	Substantive Research Themes	38
Origins	7	Selected Research Projects	44
The Bigger Picture: A Brief History of Gender Studies and Women's Studies	17	Selected Conferences, Symposia and Workshops	50
Resourcing the Gender Institute's Growth	19	Selected Public Lectures and Seminars	52
Student Numbers and Student Diversity	21	Visiting Academics and Research Scholars	54
GI Alumni	23	Research Publications	56
Teaching and Learning	24	GI Activities and Debates in Gender Studies	57
Gender Degrees	24	Conclusions: The GI and Beyond	60
MSc Gender	25	Overcoming Challenges	61
MSc Gender (Research)	26	Looking Towards the Future	63
MSc Gender and Development; MSc Gender, Development and Globalisation	27	Appendices	64
MSc Gender and Social Policy	28	2005 Advisory Committee	64
MSc Gender and Media	29	Affiliated LSE Staff	65
PhD Gender Studies	30	Friends of the GI	65
In-house Courses	31	Visiting and Associate Scholars, 1992-2005	66
The GI's Core Course: Changes in Gender Theory and Practice	31	Bibliography	68
		About the Authors	74
		Endnotes	75

Gender Institute
The London School of Economics and Political Science
Houghton Street
London
WC2A 2AE

New Working Paper Series
Issue 16, September 2005 (special issue)
ISSN No:1470-8515

