POSITION

---

Department of Management, LSE (UK)	2013-present
LSE Fellow (Post-Doctoral Fellowship focused on teaching)

RESEARCH

I study problems of organizing economic activity among multiple organizations. I examine a hand-gathered dataset of social housing projects in the UK that I use to develop theory about the processes of coordination, adaptation, and risk escalation in dynamic interorganizational networks. My findings aid managers, entrepreneurs and policy-makers to design, implement and amend strategies for effective interorganizational collaborations.

EDUCATION

Department of Management, LSE (UK)	2008-2013
PhD ( no corrections )
Thesis title: “ A theory of coordination voids in dynamic interorganizational networks: A study of social housing building project in England ”

MANUSCRIPTS BEING REVISED FOR RESUBMISSION AND UNDER REVIEW

1. “Coordination trajectories”, under review (with Fabrice Lumineau. Purdue University)
2. “Time, networks and text: A text-based research method for questions about dynamic interorganizational networks”, under review

MANUSCRIPTS IN PREPARATION FOR SUBMISSION

---

1. “Adaptation in multiparty collaborations: How network governance influences transaction costs”, target: Academy of Management Journal (with Fabrice Lumineau, Purdue University) (first draft)
2. “How cooperation and conflict influence value creation in interorganizational networks over time”, target: Strategic Management Journal (first round of peer feedback)
3. “The boundary misspecification problem: Revisiting the assumption of independence in theory development in multiple-case research”, target journal: Organization Science (Davide Secchi, University of Southern Denmark)
4. “A generalized model of how organizations work together”, target journal: Organization Science (with Xavier Castañer, HEC Lausanne)

RESEARCH IN PROGRESS AND RESEARCH GRANTS UNDER EVALUTATION

---

1. “Weaving organizations: A review of the literature and further research”
  2. “Risky heuristic: How risk management influences risk escalation in dynamic interorganizational networks”
  3. Research project: “Collaborative space and fluxes”, under appreciation, this proposal integrates the Research Group on Collaborative Spaces (RGCS); RGCS involves colleagues from Cambridge University, HEC Montreal, King’s College London, Mines ParisTech, Paris-Dauphine, and UTS (Sidney).
