

Media and Identity: Between Repression and Emancipation

09:00-09:30	Coffee and registration
09:30-09:45	Greetings: Professor Lilie Chouliaraki, Director of the PhD Programme in M&C, LSE Mr Marco Scalvini, LSE
09:45-11:15	Panel 1 – WESTERN MEDIA AND ORIENTALIST REPRESENTATIONS Chair: Tal Morse, LSE Margaretha Adriana van Es, University of Oslo Muslim women as ‘oppressed victims’ in the Dutch newspaper NRC Handelsblad: Constructions of the ‘National Self’ and its ‘Others’ (1990-2010) Ruth Sanz Sabido, De Montfort University Postcolonial theory and identity struggles in the Palestinian conflict Alaaddin F. Paksoy, University of Sheffield Representation of Other: The British media’s approach to Turkey’s possible EU membership Sanaz Raji, University of Leeds The culture of shame, satirizing the shame: “Persian Dad” viral videos, FOBs and manliness in the Iranian Diaspora
11:15-11:30	Coffee break
11:30-13:00	Panel 2 - NEOLIBERISM AND IDENTITY FORMATION Chair: Marco Scalvini, LSE Jess Baines, LSE Radical printshops: The struggle for counter-hegemonic media production in 1980s Britain Lena Prykhodko, University of Bremen “Self” as a performative strategy in casting shows: Neo-liberal discourse in identity construction Mihaela Ioana Danetiu, National School of Political and Administrative Studies, Bucharest The European identity and the social economy after the Lisbon Treaty Catherine Walsh, Goldsmiths University of London Freedom is God’s gift to humanity: How George W. Bush reconciled neoliberal and neoconservative identities with his presidential speeches
13:00-13:30	Lunch
13:30-14:30	Keynote address – Dr Shakuntala Banaji, LSE Framing young citizens: identity and participation in civic spaces on- and offline
14:30-14:45	Coffee break
14:45-16:15	Panel 3 - CONTESTED IDENTITIES Chair: Max Hänska, LSE Gabriela Mendez Cota, Goldsmiths University of London Beyond Identity: Bioethics and democracy amidst the ruins of Mexican nationalism Marc Owen Jones, Leicester University Falling in love with one’s country? Valentine’s Day 2011 in Bahrain and the role of social media in identity construction Rachelle Freake, Queen Mary, University of London Communication solitudes? Canadian identity and communication Kumru Berfin Emre, University of Essex The valley of wolves: Television, audience and national identity
16:15-17:45	Panel 4 - IDENTITY BEYOND NATIONS Chair: Sally Broughton Micova, LSE Maarja Siiner, Tartu University The role of media in linguistic integration processes in modern nation states. a comparative case study of the cartoon crisis in Denmark and The Bronze Night in Estonia Zinaida Feldman, City University London Beyond the national: Social network sites and cosmopolitanism Jowan Mahmod, Goldsmiths University of London Old diasporas and new performativities- The online-offline nexus Heba Elsayed, LSE A tale of two cities? A divided Cairo and its many young cosmopolitans
17:45	Closing remarks