

BSPS Annual Conference in York
7th - 9th September 2011

Do you work in Local Government?
Does your role cover the dynamics of Population?
Would you like to better understand how those dynamics work?
Do you struggle to find background information?
Would you like to know what other Local Authorities do?

If so, then this year's BSPS Annual Conference in York is for you as it sees the introduction of a training session specifically aimed at Local Government users of demographic information.

The aim is to provide a forum for the sharing of techniques, data sources, ideas and links which will be documented and updated to produce a tool-kit for population analysis. The direction of the training will be based on the needs of the attendees so please indicate your areas of interest with your booking form.

Numbers will be limited and preference will initially be given to Local Authority attendees. There is a £10 per laptop charge at the conference for wireless internet access which covers the duration of the conference but there is no charge for the session itself. (Conference registration fees apply)
