

Race, Violence, and the City

Remembering Altab Ali, Interrogating the Present

6 June 2018 at LSE

The event marks 40 years since the death of Altab Ali, a garment worker whose murder in May 1978 was the catalyst for major anti-racist mobilisation by the Bengali community and others in East London. We will use this anniversary as a starting point to raise questions about racism, collective action, violence, and urban life today.

This event is sponsored by the Department of Sociology, LSE and the Sussex Centre for Cultural Studies, University of Sussex and organised by Dr Naaz Rashid (Sussex), Dr Suzanne Hall (LSE), and Dr David Madden (LSE).

Symposium

Three panels featuring academics and activists

Room 4.10, Old Building 10.30am - 4.45pm

Free and open to all

More information and registration available at:

<https://race-violence-the-city-remembering-altab-ali.eventbrite.co.uk>

Keynote

'Young People, Conviviality and Conflict in Peripheral Places'

Prof Anoop Nayak (University of Newcastle)

Old Theatre, Old Building 6.30pm - 8.00pm

Free and open to all, no ticket required

Entry is on a first come first served basis

@LSESociology #LSEaltabali

www.lse.ac.uk/sociology

Department of Sociology

