7 NEW ACADEMIC BUILDING

The School’s new Academic Building was purchased in 2004. Constructed in 1912, the building has undergone a radical transformation and now provides students with fantastic state-of-the-art facilities. It houses the School’s main lecture theatres and offices, built around a soaring central atrium flooded with natural light. This building is home to The Women’s Library, which includes LSE’s Media Centre, which includes LSE’s Careers Service. The Student Centre is also the heart of LSE’s campus and houses the LSE Student Centre as well as the LSE Accommodation Office, and will find a pub, a fitness centre, a multi faith prayer centre, as well as the LSE Library in 2013. The Women’s Library collection contains 60,000 printed texts and 5,000 museum objects, including photographs, posters, badges, banners, textiles and ceramics.

6 32 LINCOLN’S INN FIELDS

The former Land Registry Building opened its doors as 32 Lincoln’s Inn Fields in 2013. The building enjoys views over London’s largest public square. It offers five floors of academic offices plus three lower floors of teaching and student activity areas, which can cater for up to 1,000 students.

Turn left onto Lincoln’s Inn Fields and walk towards Sardinia Street. LSE’s New Academic Building is across the road on your right.

8 SAW SWE HOCK STUDENT CENTRE

Since opening in 2014, the Student Centre has been presented with a host of architecture awards, including the prestigious RIBA London Building of the Year Award 2014. The building is a student hub at the heart of LSE’s campus and houses the LSE Students’ Union and large venue space. Here, you will find a pub, a fitness centre, a multi faith prayer centre, as well as the LSE Accommodation Office, and the LSE Careers Service. The Student Centre is also home to the LSE Media Centre, which includes LSE’s Pulse Radio, its weekly newspaper (The Beaver), its termly journal (The Clare Market Review) and LSE's Instagram page. It makes an ideal place to enjoy food and drink al fresco. From here you can tour the School's main lecture theatres and office centres plus three lower floors of teaching and student activity areas, which can cater for up to 1,000 students.

CLEMENT HOUSE
Home to the Department of International Relations, a subject that has been taught at LSE since 1924.

THE NEW ACADEMIC BUILDING
At the Building’s centre is a specially-commissioned artwork by Joy Gerrard featuring hanging globes to represent constellations of ideas and the way that major political or economic thoughts echo through public life.

THE LIBRARY
The Library subscribes to over 40,000 e-journals as part of its electronic information provision and has over four million separate printed items, including over 33,000 past and present journal titles. The Library has the longest opening hours of any university library in Britain, with 24 hour access for LSE students and staff.

THE PEACOCK THEATRE
When not being used by LSE, the Peacock Theatre is Sadler’s Wells home in the West End. Here they present popular dance styles from cultures around the globe as well as related forms such as circus and physical theatre.

THE OLD BUILDING
The School’s coat of arms, including its motto and beaver mascot, were adopted in 1922. The motto – rerum cognoscere causas – means “to know the causes of things.” The beaver mascot was selected for its associations with foresight and industrious behaviour.

SAW SWEE HOCK STUDENT CENTRE
The Centre’s dramatic sculptural form and unusual perforated brick façade have inspired critics to describe it as “richly considered and finished”, “eccentric and deeply satisfying”, “fantastically individual” and “a fold-out marvel [and] lesson in architectural origami”.

BABY TEMBO AND THE PENGUIN
Two examples of twelve pieces of art donated to the School by Louis Odette, an LSE alumnus and noted patron of sculptures in public spaces.

THE PARISH HALL
Used by students and staff for activities such as dancing, dramatic/performance rehearsals and sports.
