'This programme effectively changed the way I look at the world. It not only gives the necessary skills for future work and study. More importantly, it has effectively created in me a habit of reasoning, which is perhaps the most important result of a good education and is sought after by employers in the 21st century. Graduation from the University of London is like receiving a golden key for my life journey.'

Dr Zhang Jian Lin was awarded a full scholarship to study an MSc in International Accounting and Finance at LSE. He has a PhD from the National University of Singapore, and works as a lecturer at the Singapore Institute of Management.
