Global economics, international relations and leadership

Colombian CEOs at LSE

LSE Custom Programmes designed an international week programme for Colombian CEOs on the major themes and changes in today's society. The 16 senior professionals, who were studying on an executive education course at the Universidad de los Andes in Colombia, attended intensive, high-level sessions on global economics, international relations and leadership. Professors from LSE's Department of International Relations delivered teaching on the latest academic research and current marketplace practice.

The participants studied topics including European foreign policy, global defence challenges, UK-US relations, economic policy issues and strategic leadership. They were well situated to visit the UK Parliament, with a talk by Mark Pritchard MP, and Canning House, the UK's leading forum on Latin American politics, economy and business.

Finally, His Excellency the Ambassador Mr Néstor Osorio extended the participants a personal invitation to a formal reception at the Colombian Ambassador's Residence.
