

Winton and the London School of Economics and Political Science invite you to join them for:

Creating a Climate Prediction Market

In October 2016 Winton – a quantitative investment management firm – hosted an interdisciplinary workshop to explore the idea of establishing a non-commercial Climate Prediction Market where participants can bet on the value of climate variables up to several decades in the future.

This lecture will describe the issues discussed at the workshop and outline a blueprint for the creation of a climate prediction market in the UK.

SPEAKERS

Mark Roulston, Director Research, Winton

David Stainforth, Associate Professorial Research Fellow, LSE

Monday 30 January 2017

5:30pm Registration
6:00pm Presentations start
7:00pm Presentations conclude followed by drinks

LOCATION

The Kohn Centre, The Royal Society
6-9 Carlton House Terrace
London SW1Y 5AG

To register for the event please email wintonevents@winton.com