Pseudo-Orbit Data Assimilation for Atmospheric GCMs

Hailiang Du

2013 SIAM Conference on Mathematical & Computational Issues in the Geosciences
18 June 2013

Abstract

Data assimilation for nonlinear models such as weather forecasting models is a challenging task. A promising alternative approach is proposed to produce more consistent estimates of the model state, and to estimate the (state dependent) model error simultaneously, using the Pseudo-orbit Data Assimilation method with a stopping criteria. This method is shown to be more efficient and more coherent than the variational method and outperform the Ensemble Kalman Filter in nowcast on large scale models.