

CONFERENCE MARCH 2007

“Organising risk regulation: current dilemmas, future directions”

ESRC Centre for Analysis of Risk and Regulation, London School of Economics.

22nd and 23rd of March 2007.

Risk is increasingly influential in the organization of public services and the management of business. Risk regulation encompasses the governance, accountability and processing of risks. It is increasingly undertaken within organisations as part of their risk management and compliance functions, as well as by regulatory and other agencies that constitute ‘risk regulation regimes’.

The evolving nature of risk regulation is of critical importance to policy, practice and theory. CARR’s international conference will bring together leading academic experts, policymakers and practitioners to consider the organisation of risk regulation, the social and institutional character of risk management, and the increasingly de-centred and participatory nature of regulatory activities.

This conference will provide opportunities to engage with leading members of the risk and regulation field. It offers delegates the chance to keep abreast of current developments, forge professional networks, and participate in robust and topical debate.

Plenary session

Insurance, risk and governance

Keynote speaker:

Richard Ericson - Professor and Director, Centre for Criminology, University of Toronto.

Chair:

Howard Davies - Director, LSE.

Respondent:

Mark Wood - Chief Executive, Paternoster.

Additional events:

Additional events include a drinks reception on Thursday night and a conference lunch on Friday.

Conference fees:

Registration for the conference is £150 per person, or £60 for students.

Payment:

Fees can be paid by either credit card or cheque. Details on payment methods are included on the booking form (online at www.lse.ac.uk/collections/CARR/events/conference.htm, or requestable via email to regulation@lse.ac.uk).

Accommodation:

Delegates are responsible for booking their own accommodation for the conference. We recommend using Rosebery Hall, as it is well-priced and convenient to the LSE. Single rooms start at £31 per night.

Please check the Rosebery Hall website for more information:
