About the Language Centre

Languages have been taught at LSE for over 100 years. The current Language Centre was founded in 1996 to offer institution-wide language programmes for staff and students at the School. We offer degree courses in five languages (French, German, Mandarin, Russian and Spanish) and in literature and linguistics. In addition, we offer non degree courses in nine languages, and as Language Centre students, you can enrol free of charge on these courses (see the section on Non degree language courses).

We teach our courses in the context of social scientific study and research. Our language courses are “language and society”, and economic, social and political themes run through all the courses we teach. Our literature courses are similarly focused on placing literature in the social context in which the works you study were written. Sociolinguistics and intercultural communication also have to be taught in ways that emphasise the setting and cultural contexts of language use.

Staff at the Language Centre are experienced language teachers, many of whom have taught at the Centre for years. LSE is a fascinating institution for anyone interested in understanding human behaviour, and we try to bring our own professional expertise to students’ thinking about social, economic and political life. Although we teach around 3,000 LSE students each year, we only have 30 degree programme places per year, so you are joining a small and collegial Centre, where we know each student by name. We look forward to having you on our degree programmes and in our classes.

Finally, I’ll hand you over to Melisande and Marie-Solveig who will tell you three things you need to know about the Language Centre and their experience as Language Centre students.

Dr Neil McLean
Director, Language Centre

Welcome to our Language Community

During Welcome there are many events you can take part in. These are organised by ourselves, the School and the LSE Student Union. Throughout the year we have a planned programme of events and opportunities. These range from small events to bigger celebrations such as Chinese New Year and Burns Night, as well as LSE Language Community get togethers to which all LSE language learners are invited.

The LSE Language Community: extra-curricular language practice

We run extra-curricular language learning opportunities, including Conversation Circles, Bitesize Speaking sessions, Tandem Learning and Improvisation sessions. It is the perfect way to practise your languages outside the classroom and meet students from other departments. Join the LSE Language Community on Moodle where extra-curricular opportunities can be booked.

Volunteer for the Language Centre

There are many opportunities to volunteer at LSE starting with the Language Centre – as part of the LSE Language Community you could volunteer to lead a Conversation circle or Bitesize speaking sessions, as well as help out at our get togethers. If you are interested, please contact us or sign up directly using the volunteer application form.

Other volunteering opportunities around LSE include the LSE Volunteer Centre and you could also get involved with the LSESU Modern Languages Society, who run coffee breaks, games nights and cultural events.

Keeping up to date with Language Centre news and events

Details of our events are on the current Language Centre Undergraduate Students' website, but please also follow us on the Student Hub, including any groups we set up for your programme, so we can keep you informed and remind you about events that will be of interest. You can also follow us on Instagram where we post news and updates, as well as photos and reels taken during events.

Professional Services Team

Our Professional Services Team can help you with any questions you might have, such as who to speak to about your course, the location of a building or a classroom at LSE – this will especially be the case in your first few weeks at LSE. They also organise our events and socials, as well as Conversation Circles, Bitesize speaking sessions, group tutorials and Language Community get togethers.

Please feel free to contact them with your questions, either by email or drop by The Huddle!

Our Professional Services Staff are:

Helen Mayer

Maggie Evans

Inés Alonso García

Sabrina Rabi

We will keep in touch with you via the Student Hub so, if you have not done so already, please make sure you download this and join the Language Centre page and the Language Centre: BSc students 2025/26 group.

The Huddle

The Huddle, 20 Kingsway (20KSW), is your space on campus. It provides Language Centre students with some much needed study space and a place to meet. Our Professional Services Team are based here too.

Teaching staff are based in Pethick-Lawrence House.

Academic Mentors

At the start of each academic year all students will be assigned an Academic Mentor. You will meet your Academic mentor several times over the course of your first year.

The Role of the Academic Mentor

Your Academic Mentor will:

- Provide you with academic guidance and feedback on your progress and performance;
- Discuss any academic challenges you may be experiencing;
- Provide pastoral support on non-academic issues and refer you, as necessary, to the appropriate support agencies within the School;
- Meet with you regularly and maintain regular contact with you outside of meetings via email and other appropriate methods.

Mentors will be able to give you advice and discuss a range of academic and pastoral issues. These can include academic progress, course choices, internships, deferral, examinations and personal circumstances. Academic Mentors are also one of the first points of contact for you if you are facing difficulties with your studies.

Office Hours

All teaching staff at LSE, including class teachers and Academic Mentors, hold regular office hours. Office hours give you the opportunity to speak to teaching staff or to your Academic Mentor about any questions you might have. John Heyworth, the Centre Manager, also offers a weekly drop-in during term time.

You can book an Office hour appointment via the Student Hub. Please note that Office Hours only run during LSE term time.

Language Centre Studies

General Aims

We teach a range of courses and our degree programmes are unique to LSE. We offer two joint degree programmes with the Departments of International Relations and Sociology. We also offer a range of degree courses in languages, literature and linguistics. In addition, we teach around 1,500 LSE students a language each year through our non degree language programme.

BSc International Relations and Chinese

This programme offers the chance to study China as a global power, while developing Mandarin to a level that will allow graduates to work in China, or with Chinese counterparts. The programme includes a year abroad in Shanghai, studying at Fudan University.

BSc Language, Culture and Society

This programme offers the study of language in its own right, as well as understanding language as a social institution and cultural resource. Students can choose from five languages, with years abroad in China, France, Germany, Russia or Spain. Graduates will leave LSE not only able to use their chosen language in professional contexts, but also with a deep insight into the use of language itself, and how its use influences social outcomes.

Assessment

Assessment Types

Formative assessment

Many courses include a formative assessment component, which does not count towards your final degree results, but which is compulsory. Formative assessment components are designed to help you with your studies and provide opportunities for individual feedback from teachers in order to give you an idea of how you are progressing. Course teachers will provide you with feedback, usually in the form of written comments and a mark. This feedback is useful in your preparation for the summative assessments as it should help you to improve and develop.

Summative assessment

Each LSE course will be summatively assessed by coursework and/or examination. Summative assessment results will count towards your final degree classification. In the Language Centre, you will benefit from continuous assessment throughout the year. This rewards you for working consistently, and is normally complemented with a final examination in Spring term.

Please see the online course guides for specific information about what is required regarding formative and summative assessments. You will also be notified of this by your class teacher.

Assessment Criteria and Guidelines

All compulsory courses on your programme will have a presence in Moodle. This will include information on how your courses are assessed, the criteria used as well as guidelines when submitting coursework. If you are not sure about anything, always consult the teacher(s) of the course in question. There is more information on Moodle itself in this guide.

Feedback

You will get different kinds of feedback on your work. Feedback on essays tends to balance what you did well with what you can improve next time. Markers want to guide you to better argumentation in general, as well as to challenge your thinking and ideas. Feedback on language learning tends though to focus on developing your own ability to edit your communication in your chosen language. For instance, we often use marking symbols to tell you the kind of error you've made, so you can correct the text yourself. This will personalise your learning, helping you to learn from your own mistakes – perhaps the most valuable kind of learning. This kind of feedback is designed to be regular, and will be given to you within a week of submitting your work, as long as you keep handing in your coursework throughout the academic year.

Your Study Abroad

We have five study abroad destinations in China, France, Germany, Latvia/Estonia and Spain. We try to ensure that you can visit your destination during your first or second year, so that when you arrive for your year abroad, you are already familiar with the institution and the city where you will be living.

During your year abroad, your primary focus will be on improving your language skills, but you will also be able to audit courses in your other discipline – International Relations or Sociology. Those completing research projects in their final year in London will also be able to gather data for these projects during their time 'in-country'.

Non Degree Language Courses

We offer a Non degree language programme to the LSE community:

This puts you in a privileged position as we have decided that all students taking a Language Centre BSc programme will be able to register, for free, on one of these courses each year they are at LSE. This means, in addition to your degree programme, you will now have a second choice from one of nine languages. You will need to follow the normal registration procedure as outlined on the programme website but then, when you come to register, you will not need to pay an additional fee.

Course Selection and Timetables

Programme structure and what you need to do

Each year of an undergraduate programme comprises four papers. Each of these papers is completed by taking either one full, or two half units.

You can view the regulations for our programmes using these links to the LSE Calendar:

BSc International Relations and Chinese

BSc Language, Culture and Society

You will need to select all your courses in LSE for You – both your compulsory courses and any options. Your timetable will then be created by the Timetables Team.

When to select your courses

- Undergraduate course selection will open for all new LSE students on Tuesday 9 September 2025.
- Course selection across LSE will close at 5pm on Monday 13 October 2025.

If something goes wrong, emergency changes to course selections can be made until 20 October 2025. After this no changes can be made, no matter the circumstances.

How to select your courses

- 1 Find out about your courses – Go to lse.ac.uk/findcourses to access tools and information on the courses you can take in Year 1.
- 2 In your pre-arrival communications, we advised who to contact regarding your modern language course. The appropriate Language Co-ordinator will have been able to advise you on which course to select.
- 3 Select your courses in LSE for You – Go to lse.ac.uk/selectcourses for step-by-step instructions on how to select your courses on LSE for You. Remember you need to input all four courses for Year 1.
- 4 Check you have Moodle access for your selected courses – Providing your selected courses are ready in Moodle, you should automatically be enrolled on their Moodle pages a few hours after selecting your courses on LSE for You.

Capped courses

Some courses are capped; this means that there are only a limited number of places available on that course. You can access a full list of capped courses online.

In Year 1, given your programme regulations, this will not be an issue for you and throughout your programme we will always prioritise your Language Centre course choices.

Each department handles this slightly differently and information about the likelihood of getting a place on a course will be included in the relevant Course Guide in the LSE Calendar.

So, in future years, if your preferred outside option is capped, it is sensible to have a backup in case you cannot get a place. If you cannot get a place on your preferred outside option, remember that you can potentially take it in your fourth year.

Timetables

Undergraduate students are allocated to all teaching centrally by the Timetables Team. We recommend that you make your initial selections in LSE for You before 5pm on Monday 22 September 2025. You should receive your personal timetable at 10am on Friday 26th September 2025. After this, if you make changes to your course selections it can take up to three working days for these to be reflected on your personal timetable.

Can't see your timetable?

Personal timetables are published at the end of September on LSE for You. Before you start selecting courses on LSE for You, you should complete online pre-enrolment (new students) and activate your IT account, as part of the pre-enrolment process, in order to see your timetable. If the timetable still does not show, after pre-enrolment, it is possible this is due to a timetable clash.

There is a "Student Timetable Clashes" screen in LSE for You which may help to identify your clash. This screen provides details of simple clashes, these are the straightforward lecture to lecture clashes. Some clashes are more complex and do not appear on the list in LSE for You. Complex clashes may involve more than two courses and often arise when a clash free seminar/class group can't be found even though there are multiple groups.

You are also advised to consult the School-level timetables (found on the Timetables webpage) and check all of your course timings so you understand the full nature of the clash(es).

For more information about timetable clashes and how to access your personal timetable, please refer to the Undergraduate Course Selection and Timetables Student Guide section 7 and the information on Timetables webpages.

If you can't see your timetable, or it is incomplete, after 26 September check that you have:

- Completed online pre-enrolment and campus enrolment
- Selected all your courses in LSE for You
- Not selected a course which creates a timetable clash (check the info.lse.ac.uk/current-students/timetables. Timetable viewed by course Code).
- Not made changes within the last three working days.

Changing your timetable

It is not possible to change the lectures in your timetable; there is usually only one lecture for each course, and it takes place at a fixed time. You can potentially change class/seminar group in exceptional circumstances. To request a group change apply using the “Undergraduate Class/Seminar Group Change Request” tool within LSE for You. You should include details of why you need to change group and outline your availability for alternative groups. We may request evidence in support of your request.

You can request a class group change via LSE for You, but you should be aware that this is at the discretion of the department running the course. You may need to provide evidence justifying the need to change classes. It is at the discretion of each department to define what reasons are valid for a class change. If you have any questions about this, please get in touch with the teaching department for the course directly. Please also note that any potential class group changes are subject to availability. You can find more information on the class and seminar group change requests webpage.

Your main contact in the Language Centre, should you have any questions or problems relating to Course Selection and Timetabling, is John Heyworth.

Auditing courses

Some LSE courses allow for students to “audit”. This is an informal arrangement where you join the lectures but do not go to classes/seminars or take the assessments. As an informal arrangement, it is not possible for LSE to confirm whether you have audited a course; it will not appear in your course selections, on your timetable or on your transcript. If you do choose to audit a course you should first check that your timetable will allow you to join the lectures. If so, contact the relevant course leader and ask permission to audit their course. You must not attend any classes/seminars for courses you are auditing.

We do not recommend that you audit any courses in Year 1; you have got a full year ahead of you and should concentrate on the courses that you are formally registered for.

Winter term course selection

Course selection will reopen at the start of Winter term 2025, however as you are only selecting full units or paired courses (i.e., courses that run over Autumn and Winter term) you will not be able to make any changes.

Getting help

Your main contact in the Language Centre, should you have any initial questions or problems relating to Course Selection and Timetabling, is the Centre Manager, John Heyworth.

There are some central services you can also check in with for specific issues:

- For queries about the course selection process, you can contact the Student Services Centre (SSC) via their enquiry form. The SSC can help if you are experiencing issues with the LSE for You system.
- For queries about your timetable, you can contact the Timetables team at lse360.my.site.com/student-services/s/enquiry-form. Please do check the list of common problems above first.
- If you are not able to access LSE for You at all then contact Tech Support.
- If you have a question about Moodle, please contact eden.digital@lse.ac.uk

Student Services Centre

The Student Services Centre (SSC) is located on the ground floor of the Old Building. Advice and information is available on services including:

- Support for new arrivals
- Student status documentation
- Course selection
- Immigration advice
- LSE ID cards
- TfL 18+ Student Oyster Photocards
- Exams and assessment
- Results and degree certificates
- Graduation.

We are also a good point of contact to find out more about the support services available at LSE and we host specialist drop-in sessions. Visit lse.ac.uk/ssc for the latest information about our services, opening times and drop-in sessions.

Online pre-enrolment and campus enrolment

The majority of new students will be required to undertake a two-stage enrolment process: online pre-enrolment and campus enrolment. You will receive email notification when it is time to complete the pre-enrolment process for your programme. Campus enrolment takes place in-person and is where we will check your official documents, and you will be issued with your LSE Card. It is very important that you attend campus enrolment and with the correct original documents. Usually, you can re-enrol online for subsequent years of study, but sometimes we may need to see you in person again.

For more information, visit lse.ac.uk/enrolment

Student status documentation

During your time at LSE you may need official documentation to prove that you are studying with us. A Certificate of Enrolment provides proof that you are enrolled as a current student at LSE to organisations such as council tax offices, embassies and banks. For more information about what a Certificate of Enrolment shows visit lse.ac.uk/studentletters

You can order a self-service Certificate of Enrolment which will be delivered immediately to your LSE email address as a PDF. If the standard letter is not sufficient, you can request a bespoke Certificate of Enrolment to be produced by the Student Services Centre. We will do our best to provide the information required, but this cannot be guaranteed. Please bear in mind that during peak periods bespoke letters may take longer to produce. For more information about both types of Certificates of Enrolment and how to order, please visit lse.ac.uk/studentletters

The Student Services Centre (SSC) also offers a range of other documents including Certificates of Course Selection and intermediate transcripts. For more information about the types of documents available, how to request letters, and to access our enquiry form, please visit lse.ac.uk/studentletters

Your LSE Card

Your LSE card provides access to buildings and acts as your library card. It is important that you keep it safe and never share it with anybody else. If your LSE card is lost, stolen or damaged visit lse.ac.uk/studentidcards to find out how to get a replacement.

Student Advice and Engagement

The SSC has a dedicated Student Advice and Engagement Team that can provide advice on academic (particularly non-progression, interruption, withdrawal, regulations and exams), and immigration matters.

If you are not sure who to contact about a query or question, then the Advice and Engagement Team will be happy to help. You can contact the team via the enquiry form at lse.ac.uk/studentadvice

Immigration Advice

The Advice and Engagement Team are the only team able to provide detailed immigration advice on UK visas for international and EU/EEA students at LSE. You can find a lot of detail on their web pages, which are updated each time the rules change. The best way to contact the team is to use the visa advice query form or to attend one of their bookable visa advice quick consultations, or log-in to their dedicated visa advice live chat.

What do I do if...

The SSC have developed a series of answers to common “What do I do if...” questions. These cover a broad range of topics including, what to do if you’re unwell during an exam; become pregnant; change your name; or want to change degree programme. You can find these questions and answers at lse.ac.uk/what-if

Interruption

In certain circumstances you can take a year-long break in your studies (which we call an interruption) with approval from your academic department and the School.

You are usually required to return at the start of either Autumn Term or Winter Term the following year as appropriate. Spring Term interruptions are not possible. For more information visit lse.ac.uk/interruptions

“ We are the only team trained and regulated to give immigration advice at LSE, under the Office of the Immigration Services Commissioner guidelines. ”

Programme transfer

You can request to transfer from your current programme to another programme at the same level according to the School's regulations. There are usually restrictions or conditions on transferring programmes, and sometimes transfers are not possible.

All transfer requests need the approval of the new academic department you wish to transfer into before being authorised by the School. For more information visit

lse.ac.uk/programmetransfers

Change of mode of study

If you are studying a master's programme, and you need to change from full-time to part-time study due to your circumstances, you will need to seek approval from your academic department.

Changing from full-time to part-time study is generally acceptable up until the end of Winter Term Course Selection, as long as your selected courses can be amended according to programme regulations and in line with the teaching that you have already taken. Your fees will also be amended.

Changing from part-time to full-time may not always be possible, especially if you need a visa to study at LSE, and requests will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

It is not normally possible to study an undergraduate programme on a part-time basis. For more information visit lse.ac.uk/changemode

Withdrawal

Withdrawing means that you are leaving your programme permanently.

Before withdrawing you should consult with your Academic Mentor, and you may want to consider requesting an interruption instead, so that you have some time to consider your options. For more information visit lse.ac.uk/withdrawal

Regulations

You should familiarise yourself with the LSE regulations, policies and procedures to ensure you are aware of all necessary assessment requirements, how your final degree is calculated and what options are available if you experience problems during your studies.

Visit lse.ac.uk/calendar for more information on:

- General Academic Regulations
- Classification Schemes
- Assessment Offence Regulations
- Appeals Regulations.

You can also find a full A-Z listing of all of LSE's policies and procedures online at lse.ac.uk/policies

Student Voice

Student-Staff Liaison Committees

Student-Staff Liaison Committees (SSLCs) are one of the most important bodies in the School. They are a forum for students to discuss their experiences, both in and outside of the classroom, with LSE staff. SSLCs are a shared, collaborative endeavour between departments, the Students' Union, central School Services, and, most importantly, students themselves.

SSLCs are your chance to engage with LSE and enact positive change for the benefit of yourself, your peers, and even future cohorts.

At the start of the year, you will be asked by your department if you would like to represent your programme on the SSLC as a Student Academic Representative. By volunteering, you'll represent your peers and take a leading role in the student body.

More information, including access to minutes from SSLCs across the School, and other ways you can use your voice, can be found on the student voice webpages.

Meet LSE leadership events

In the Autumn and Winter Terms, LSE hosts student-only events that give you the opportunity to discuss your experience as a student with LSE leadership, including the President and Vice Chancellor.

These events are an opportunity for you to meet leaders from across LSE in person to ask questions, raise suggestions and voice any concerns, plus the chance to meet students from other programmes.

You'll be invited to attend these events – look out for further details in Autumn and Winter Term.

Student Partnership

Change Makers

Change Makers is an opportunity for you to instigate positive changes at LSE.

Working alongside other students and LSE staff, you are invited to identify and research solutions to issues affecting student life at LSE and to start implementing them. Whether it's helping your department develop a new skills programme or making campus more accessible, this is your chance to create a real impact on the quality of the student experience at LSE. Applications to become a Change Maker will open in Autumn Term 2025. This is a new opportunity at LSE, and you can find out more at lse.ac.uk/changemakers

Student Education Panel

The Student Education Panel is an opportunity for you to enhance education at LSE alongside students from other departments and levels of study and to gain insight into how the university works.

Around 50 Student Education Panelists meet several times throughout the year to consider a specific education-related topic, question or proposal. Drawing on your own experiences and ideas, you will generate insights to present at key education-related forums, and work in partnership with LSE and LSESU leaders to co-create a better educational experience for everyone. In recognition of your contributions, you will receive a voucher for every meeting you participate in.

Applications to join the Student Education Panel will open in Autumn Term 2025 and you can find out more at lse.ac.uk/studenteducationpanel

Quality Assurance

LSE's approach to assuring the quality of our teaching is set out in the Strategy for Managing Academic Standards and Quality. As an awarding body LSE must be in a position to assure the standards of its degrees. At the same time, we believe that the design of quality assurance should respect different departmental cultures and academic histories. The strategy sets out broad principles and processes for assuring academic standards and for enhancing the quality of educational provision.

The overall framework includes devolved quality assurance arrangements for academic departments, with responsibility for the oversight and modification of existing provision resting with Departmental Teaching Committees.

The Teaching Quality Assurance and Review Office (TQARO) supports the activities of the Education Committee and several of its sub-committees, with further details available in the "Committees" section of the website at lse.ac.uk/tqaro. TQARO also curates and publishes information about the School's academic offering, including programme regulations, course guides, and academic regulations in the School's Calendar. In addition to oversight of curriculum management related activities, TQARO administers the appointment and payment of External Examiners, with further details available on the "External Examiner Processes" section of the website at lse.ac.uk/tqaro. Queries relating to devolved quality assurance responsibilities, the work of Education Committee or the process for the consideration of proposals for new courses and programmes of study should be sent to tqaro@lse.ac.uk; queries relating to external examiners should be sent to tqaro.external.examiners@lse.ac.uk

Student surveys

In both Autumn Term and Winter Term TQARO conducts course-level surveys to assess students' opinions of teaching.

Course survey scores are made available to course convenors, teachers, Heads and Deputy Heads of Departments, Department Managers, the Director of the Eden Centre, the Vice President and Pro-Vice Chancellors for Education and Faculty Development. In addition to producing reports for individual teachers, TQARO produces aggregated quantitative data for departments and School-wide bodies. Further information can be found online in the "Surveys" section of the website at lse.ac.uk/tqaro

TQARO also conducts annual programme-level surveys of undergraduate and taught master's programmes and supports LSE's participation in the National Student Survey in coordination with the Communications Division, Planning Division, DTS, and academic departments.

Queries relating to the delivery of teaching surveys at course- or programme-level should be sent to tqarosurveys@lse.ac.uk

Study and Career Support Services

LSE LIFE

LSE LIFE is the place to discover and develop the skills you'll need to reach your goals at LSE, whether they concern your academic work or other personal or professional pursuits. LSE LIFE is here to help you find your own ways to study and learn, think about where your studies might lead you, and make the most of your time at LSE. It is also the place to come all year round to ask about the range of opportunities and services available across the School to help you achieve success, whatever 'success' means to you.

LSE LIFE brings together specialists from teams across the School – on the ground floor of the Library. At LSE LIFE you'll find:

- Hands-on practical workshops and online resources for effective reading, academic writing, critical thinking, managing your dissertation research, organising your time, and other key areas of university work.
- Constructive conversations and workshops to learn ways to adapt and thrive in new or challenging situations, including developing your skills for leadership; public speaking; connecting and collaborating with others; finding a healthy balance among study, work, rest, and fun; and thinking about life beyond university.
- One-to-one appointments for personalised advice on essays, participating in classes and seminars, revising for exams, studying quantitative subjects, or any other aspect of your studies at LSE. Or simply book an appointment – on campus or online – to talk through your ideas for an essay, a project, or your research.

- Specialist advice in areas like CV writing, English language, finding and referencing academic sources, research ethics and data management, statistics, and more.
- A bright, flexible, and welcoming space to meet and work together with students from other courses and departments.
- Group visits and walks to discover and take advantage of what LSE and London have to offer.

LSE LIFE is here to help you make sense of the opportunities on offer across the School and help you get connected with the teams, resources, events, and activities that you want to pursue.

Find out more at lse.ac.uk/lselife, or drop by with any questions (or just to pick up a lollipop!). LSE LIFE is on the ground floor of the Library, open Monday – Friday, 10am – 6pm.

LSE Library

LSE Library is the major international library of the social sciences. The collections, both print and online, cover the discipline in the widest sense, and will support your studies and research.

The two main print book collections are:

- The course collection, located on the first floor, which holds multiple copies of essential books for your courses. Many of these titles are available online.
- The main collection is located across three floors, holding wider items for social sciences research.

You can use Library Search to find books and other materials for your studies via lse.ac.uk/library. Once you have found what you need, write down its location to help you find it in the Library. To borrow books, use your LSE card and the self-service machines on the ground floor. Taught students can borrow up to 30 books at any one time. You can renew your books online by logging into your Library account at lse.ac.uk/library. If you do not return books on time, you will be unable to borrow any more until your overdue item is returned or renewed. We do not charge fines on late returns.

Each department has a dedicated professional Librarian, a subject expert offering email support and in-person and online appointments to help you locate and access information resources on any topic. This support ranges from identifying key resources to support your studies to high-level systematic literature searching for researchers.

They also provide expert help in managing references.

The Library is a focal point of the School and we are open seven days a week during term time and vacation and 24 hours daily from the beginning of the Winter Term until the end of the examination period. There are over 2,300 study spaces, including group study rooms, and extensive IT facilities, including over 300 PCs, laptop points, a laptop loan service, wireless Internet access via eduroam, and photocopying and printing facilities.

Language Centre

Whether you are an international student looking for support with your English, are interested in taking one of our courses as a degree option, want to learn a new language or improve your current language skills, the Language Centre is here to help.

If English is not your first language, our support programme can offer help and advice throughout your degree. Best of all, it is free! English for Academic Writing courses are available for any taught student who does not have English as a first language. These weekly classes are taught throughout the Autumn and Winter Term and can help with academic writing for coursework. This support is delivered with LSE LIFE (lse.ac.uk/ lselife). You can find out more information on what is on offer and how to sign up here.

You may be eligible to take a language, literature or linguistics course as part of your degree programme. You can find out about our courses and your undergraduate degree here.

Any LSE student can sign up for a non-degree extracurricular language course. As part of the LSE Language Policy, if you are a UK-EU undergraduate and you do not have a GCSE Grade 4 (or equivalent) in a language that is not your mother tongue, you are eligible to take a course for free!

LSE Careers

Whether you already know where you want to go or you'd like to explore your options, LSE Careers is here to help you connect with your future – from working with you to understand your motivations, to providing opportunities for you to meet employers across a range of sectors.

How do I get started?

As an LSE student, you can use LSE Careers to access a range of careers support, from events and job opportunities to resources and careers appointments. We also provide bespoke services for Disabled students and PhD students.

Log in to our online careers portal (careers.lse.ac.uk) to:

- register for careers events to develop your skills or explore different employment sectors
- browse jobs and internship opportunities on our jobs board
- book a one-to-one appointment with a careers consultant
- update your preferences to receive careers information relevant to your career interests.

Visit our website (lse.ac.uk/careers) to:

- explore resources about choosing your next steps
- get insights into employment sectors and recruitment processes
- browse top tips for writing your CV and cover letters
- access online tools for practicing interviews and reviewing your CV
- be inspired by what LSE graduates have gone on to do.

Follow @LSECareers on Instagram and TikTok to stay up-to-date with upcoming events, expert advice and new resources.

LSE Volunteer Centre

The LSE Volunteer Centre is here to inspire and empower you to volunteer for causes that you are passionate about during your time at LSE. Volunteering is a great way to help develop personal and professional skills, meet new people and make a difference in your community. We are committed to making volunteering exciting and accessible, and we collaborate with students to enhance their volunteering experiences.

Information and Advice

We offer a range of ways to get involved from the start of your LSE journey, including connecting students with long-term and short-term volunteering with our hundreds of charity partners and one-off opportunities throughout term on campus. We begin each term with a Volunteering Fair, where we invite over 50 charity partners onto campus to speak directly with students. We also host a charity on campus weekly for Charity Tuesday, to spread awareness of their mission and volunteering opportunities. At any point of the year, students have access to our ongoing volunteering vacancy board, updated daily with opportunities from charity partners. You can book a meeting with our Volunteer Centre Manager, or other Volunteer Centre colleagues, for one-to-one support.

Volunteering Programmes

The Volunteer Centre also runs multiple exciting voluntary programmes, including the Community Engagement Programme, a voluntary consultancy, the Research Volunteering Scheme, an initiative for volunteer researchers, and Community Action Projects, an opportunity to develop your own volunteering project. These programmes offer students the chance to work with other students, collaborate directly with charities, and use their degree knowledge with the mentorship and support of the Volunteer Centre. These programmes are application-based, and information is available on how to apply during Autumn Term.

“ The feeling of fighting for a cause that you are passionate about is second to none, but the skills you gain from it are unparalleled. ”

Dan Lawes, International Relations and History, 2022

Volunteer Centre Space

You can also visit the Volunteer Centre on campus on the ground floor of Lincoln Chambers, Portsmouth Street! We encourage students to visit for our weekly open hours, one-off volunteering opportunities, or for information and advice in person. Our home is an inclusive space that welcomes any students looking to get involved in volunteering.

You can find out more, as well as the advice and support we can offer in our space on campus, at lse.ac.uk/VolunteerCentre or by following @LSEVolunteering.

LSE Generate

LSE Generate is the home of entrepreneurship at LSE.

We welcome all students and alumni – from those starting their journey in developing entrepreneurial skills to those who have already launched their ventures and are looking for business support. We focus on supporting and scaling socially driven startups on campus and across the globe (from Lisbon to Lagos!)

As a student, you'll have access to all our resources and our co-working space at the heart of the LSE campus to work on your business idea; as well as access to a variety of events throughout the year created to expand your skills, give you the tools to excel, and help you network with like-minded founders. Our programmes vary from dragons den style startup competitions, our flagship accelerator programme, industry panels, skill development workshops on a range of topics, entrepreneurship bootcamps, and even international treks!

Pop by and meet us in our co-working space (the GenDen) opposite the Student Services Centre on Clare Market.

Discover more on our website lse.ac.uk/generate, register with Generate to receive our monthly newsletter, follow us on all our social media channels at (Instagram and LinkedIn) @LSEGenerate, and you can join our Slack community of over 1,500 members, where ALL the action happens!

Equity, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI)

Promote equity, champion diversity, and help develop an inclusive LSE

One of our guiding principles in LSE's 2030 Strategy is to sustain excellence through an inclusive and diverse community. We work to build a School – and a society – in which everyone is able to fulfil their potential, and everyone's contribution is valued.

In support of this, LSE has a number of important initiatives that are designed to lead to equity, diversity and inclusion for us all:

- Ethics Code: the LSE community is expected to act to the highest standards of ethical integrity, in accordance with the ethical principles set out in our Ethics Code. To read about the School's commitment to equality of respect and opportunity visit lse.ac.uk/ethics
- Report and Support is LSE's new case management system to address violence, discrimination and harassment. If you have experienced, or witnessed, any form of discrimination, bullying, harassment or sexual misconduct, we encourage you to report this to LSE.
- You can report an incident online anonymously or with contact details. If you report with contact details an adviser will be in touch within three working days to discuss the various options for getting support and/or handling your report through informal or formal means.
 - LSE Safe Contacts are trained members of staff offering confidential support and guidance to individuals who have experienced, or are experiencing any form of discrimination, bullying, harassment or sexual misconduct.
 - Consent.Ed: LSE's educational programme focused on consent, and fostering respectful and inclusive behaviour on campus. All students are expected to participate in the programme, though opting out is possible for personal reasons. Learn more about Consent.Ed here.
 - LSE's Independent Sexual Violence Adviser (ISVA) Service: LSE's ISVA service is run by external specialist partners – Rape Crisis South London and SurvivorsUK. This service provides free, confidential and independent short-term emotional, and casework, support for any student who has experienced any form of sexual violence at any time in their lives. Any student can refer themselves for support. Learn more about the ISVA service here.
- AccessAble: provides accessibility guides of all LSE campus buildings, ensuring inclusivity for everyone.

- LGBTQ+ Inclusive Action Plan: LSE is delivering six priorities to advance LGBTQ+ equity and inclusion. Informed by data, insight and co-created with the School community, they form an action plan that is co-ordinated by the EDI Division and accountable to the LGBTQ+ Steering Group.
- LGBTQ+ (lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, queer) Role Models and Allies Directory: provides a network of informal contacts for the LSE community to share experiences, and support and learn from each other.
- Our Race Equity Framework has been developed to ensure students and staff benefit from a diverse and equitable education, research and work environment; fostering attainment and development opportunities for ethnic minorities. LSE have identified six key priorities to focus on, which together form our Race Equity Action Plan.
- Our Athena Swan action plan has been developed to support and transform gender equality. It supports the professional development and pay equity for women on all levels from PGR students to senior leadership. Visit our Athena Swan website to learn more.
- LSE Students' Union (LSESU): a student-led, not-for-profit organisation that represents all LSE students through their Part-time and Sabbatical Officers. You can view all student representatives, including Women's, LGBTQ+, Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic, and Neurodiversity and Disability Officers on the LSESU website.
- On the EDI Team website you can find more about our partnerships, training and workshops, plus:
 - Inclusive EDI policies and resources: the support available to members of minority groups at LSE, and expert EDI resources from our external partners.
 - EDI News and Events: updates on EDI cultural events, history month activities; and our new space on campus for students to hold gatherings, events, and initiatives promoting inclusivity and intersectionality.

If you would like to find out more about these and other initiatives, please contact the EDI Team on edi@lse.ac.uk

Your Wellbeing and Health

Student Wellbeing Service (SWS)

SWS aims to provide you with a single integrated source of help and assistance to ensure that you get the most out of your LSE experience.

Disability and Mental Health Service (DMHS)

DMHS are the first point of contact for students with disabilities, long term medical and mental health conditions, and Specific Learning Difficulties such as dyslexia.

DMHS can help you to create My Adjustments which is a way of putting in place agreed “reasonable adjustments” to support your studies. Advisers in DMHS can potentially set up one-to-one learning support, mentoring and help you access assistive technology designed to remove barriers to studying. The earlier that you let DMHS know about your condition the earlier they can work with you to put appropriate support in place. For more detailed information about My Adjustments, and to apply for My Adjustments, visit lse.ac.uk/myadjustments

Visit Booking an appointment to book a DMHS Appointment.

Support for your wellbeing

Any student looking for support for their wellbeing can book a 30-minute Wellbeing Appointment. This provides an opportunity to discuss any issues you are experiencing, and an opportunity to explore what would be most useful to you, including: one-to-one support (eg, counselling), groups, workshops, online resources, self-care strategies and referrals to other LSE and external services.

Visit Booking an appointment to book a Wellbeing Appointment.

Groups and Workshops

SWS also organises groups and workshops to support students experiencing stress, anxiety or other issues. Details of these groups can be found online.

Peer Supporters

Peer Supporters give you the opportunity to talk to fellow students about anything that is worrying you. Peer Supporters are trained to offer confidential emotional support, help and reassurance. You can find out more about the scheme and arrange a chat with a Peer Supporter at lse.ac.uk/peersupport

Health care in the UK

You are likely to need to access medical care while you are at LSE, even if this is just for routine appointments. In the UK most health care is provided through the National Health Service (NHS).

You are typically eligible for free treatment on the NHS if you fall into one of the following categories:

- You are a UK resident
- You have a Student visa and have paid the Immigration Health Surcharge (IHS)
- You have applied for the EU Settlement Scheme and hold either Pre-settled or Settled status.

This list is not exhaustive and was correct at the time of print. The UK Council for International Student Affairs maintains an up-to-date listing on their website available at ukcisa.org.uk

If you are unfamiliar with the NHS, search for “NHS Services explained” to find out more. You are usually required to register with a local General Practitioner’s (GP) surgery before you can book an appointment. You should register as soon as possible and not wait until you are unwell. The nearest GP surgery is St Philips Medical Centre which is based on the second floor of Pethick-Lawrence House. This surgery will register most LSE students. For more information about the services offered and how to register please visit stphilipsmedicalcentre.co.uk or call 020 7611 5131.

Alternatively, you can find your nearest GP by using the GP finder function on the NHS website available at nhs.uk

As well as dispensing medicines, pharmacies can also offer advice on common health problems. You do not need to make an appointment, just visit a pharmacy and ask to speak to the duty pharmacists. In an emergency you should dial 999 to call an ambulance. You can also visit your nearest accident and emergency (A&E) department at your local hospital or visit an Urgent Care Centre.

For further information about health care, including details about dentists and opticians, visit: lse.ac.uk/studenthealth

LSE Faith Centre

The Faith Centre is open to students of all faiths and none. It's home to LSE's diverse religious activities, transformational interfaith leadership programmes, and provides spaces for worship, prayer, and quiet reflection.

Finding your feet

It can be challenging arriving in a new city for a new start. We want to help you settle into London and find a community that suits you – and there are lots of options!

We provide spaces for LSESU Faith Societies to meet, worship, and plan their activities. Details of contact information for faith groups and other helpful information can be found in our resources.

Wellbeing

Looking to recharge and reconnect? Explore our wellbeing activities on offer: from guided meditation to yoga – as well as dedicated spaces for prayer and reflection – there's something for everyone. Find out more on our "wellbeing" page.

Facilities

The Faith Centre comprises Islamic Prayer Rooms, a space for silent prayer/meditation (The Cave), and a multifaith space (The Desert Room) which is bookable for LSESU Faith Societies or faith/wellbeing-based staff groups. Find out more here or email faithcentre@lse.ac.uk for booking enquiries.

Support

You can contact the Faith Centre Director and Chaplain to LSE, Revd Dr James Walters, on j.walters2@lse.ac.uk for confidential support regardless of your background or beliefs.

We also have Muslim, Catholic, Jewish, and Orthodox Associate Chaplains, whose contact details can be found on the Faith Centre's "People" page.

Beecken Faith and Leadership Programme

Religion has the power to challenge, connect, and transform. Our flagship faith and leadership programme invites all LSE students to engage deeply with difference, ask big questions, and build bridges across beliefs. These free, extracurricular sessions are where leadership meets reflection. Learn more about the module here.

LSE Religion and Global Society

The Faith Centre is also home to the Religion and Global Society research unit; an interdisciplinary unit conducting, coordinating, and promoting religion-related social science research at LSE.

LSE Religion and Global Society Blog

The LSE Religion and Global Society blog is an interdisciplinary platform that explores the place and role of religion in our globalised world. The blog is a platform for experienced and early career academics, PhD and Master's research students, and other expert commentators to share their insights on this complex, wide-reaching topic. We welcome contributions from all researchers working on religion and global society.

If you are interested in contributing to the blog, have a look at our guidelines or get in touch with us at faithcentre.rgs@lse.ac.uk

Religion Scholars Network

This is a network for current LSE PhD candidates and post-doctoral researchers across departments whose work relates to the social scientific study of religion. We offer an invaluable opportunity to collaborate with peers across disciplines through informal events held throughout the year. For more information contact us at faithcentre.rgs@lse.ac.uk

Exams and Assessments

Candidate numbers

Your candidate number is a unique five-digit number that ensures that your work is marked anonymously. It is different to your student number and will change every year. Candidate numbers can be accessed in early Autumn Term in Student LFY.

Exam timetables

Course by course exam timetables will be available online ahead of each exam period. For January exams the timetable is usually available in mid to late December; for Spring exams it is usually available in early March; and for students taking in-year resit and deferral exams, it is usually available in late July/early August. Closer to each exam season, you will also be sent your personal exam timetable detailing your room and seat information for each exam. Please visit the exam timetable webpage for full details of release dates for this academic year.

Exam procedures

Anybody taking exams at LSE must read the Exam Procedures for Candidates. It contains all the information that you need to know and is updated each year. You must ensure you are aware of the rules at LSE and be prepared for your exams to avoid problems on the day which could result in allegations of misconduct against you or confiscation of non-permitted items.

The document is less than fifteen pages and covers topics ranging from candidate numbers, permitted materials and e-exams, to what to do if things go wrong. You can download your copy at lse.ac.uk/exams

You may only use a calculator in an exam if this is permitted by the relevant academic department. If you are permitted a calculator, it must be one of the approved models. For more information on the types of calculators allowed, please read the Exam Procedures for Candidates. If you bring an alternative model, it will be removed by invigilators. The permitted calculators are readily available in many supermarkets, online retailers and in the LSE Shop.

Central exam adjustments

Central Exam Adjustments (CEAs) can be put in place if you have a documented medical, physical or mental health condition and/or a specific learning difficulty such as dyslexia or dyspraxia. The purpose of CEAs is to provide an environment that gives all students an equal opportunity in exams. These adjustments are confidential and will not be listed on your degree certificate or transcript. In most cases you should apply for CEAs as part of getting your My Adjustments in place. However, there is a different process for applying for CEAs for short-term, unexpected, conditions. For more information, including deadline dates for applications, visit lse.ac.uk/CEA

e-Exams

e-Exams are exams that take place in-person and under invigilated exam conditions, the same way that they are for handwritten exams. Instead of completing your answers on a paper script, you use your own personal device to type your answers and submit electronically.

The platform currently used by LSE is Digiexam. This works by locking down your personal device to create a secure exam environment where you can write your answers.

Not all exams are e-Exam enabled. Please see list of e-Exam enabled courses on the e-Exams webpage. For further information visit e-Exams \(lse.ac.uk\)

You will be able to bring one device (laptop or tablet with an integrated keyboard) to your e-enabled exams. Please see the “Device requirements” section on the webpage for more detailed information.

You won't be able to have any peripheral items eg, external mouse, keyboards, laptops stands, etc. with you during an e-Exam unless that item is part of your CEAs. If you have a documented medical, physical or mental health condition and/or a specific learning difficulty and have need of additional equipment as a result, you must apply for CEAs.

Fit to sit policy

By attempting any type of assessment, including but not limited to sitting exams, submitting essays, coursework, class participation, group work, presentations, or dissertations, the School will consider you have declared yourself fit to do so. If you experienced disruption to your studies (including but not limited to illness, injury or personal difficulties) you must think carefully about whether you should attempt the assessment or whether you should consider requesting an extension or deferral. Requests for an extension or deferral must be made in advance of the assessment deadline.

Extension policy

If you have difficulties in the lead up to an assessment deadline but think you may be able to successfully submit if you had extra time, you should seek an extension request. You must make this request before the deadline has taken place and you will need permission from the Department responsible for the assessment. For more information visit lse.ac.uk/extensionpolicy

Deferral policy

If, having been granted an extension you feel you require more time to submit the assessment, your extension request was not approved, or the assessment in question has a static deadline such as an exam or online assessment released at a specific time/date, you should consider requesting a deferral. You must complete the online deferral form and submit evidence no later than 24 hours before the submission deadline or starting time of an exam. For more information visit lse.ac.uk/deferral

Exceptional Circumstances

If, having submitted an assessment you feel your performance was impacted by circumstances beyond your control, you should submit an Exceptional Circumstances (EC) Form and corroborating evidence to the Student Services Centre by the stated deadline. Such circumstances could include (but are not limited to):

- failing to submit an assessment or sit an exam which you did not defer
- experiencing difficulties which could have affected your academic performance in an assessment
- adjustments such as CEAs, My Adjustments or deadline extensions that you feel were insufficient to compensate for the impact of your circumstances
- a late diagnosis of a condition meaning that you could not apply for adjustments until after you had completed some or all assessments.

Submitting an EC Form is the only way for you to alert the Exam Boards to the circumstances which may have affected your performance. For more information and deadlines visit lse.ac.uk/exceptionalcircumstances

Missing assessment deadlines

If you miss an assessment deadline (including an extended deadline) you should submit your work as soon as possible. Normally, the following late penalties would be applied unless you can demonstrate a good reason (normally supported by evidence) for not being able to submit on time. If you submit late, you should inform the Department responsible for that assessment of your reasons for not being able to submit on time as soon as possible. This will allow them to consider if they are able to lift any late penalties that are applied.

Academic Integrity Awareness Week

The Student Regulations Team (from the Student Services Centre) together with colleagues from LSE LIFE and LSE Library, host a variety of events to increase students' awareness of the importance of academic integrity and to improve students' understanding on what plagiarism is and how to avoid it. Our annual Academic Integrity Awareness Week will be held in Week 7 of Autumn Term (10-14 November 2025) when you are encouraged to challenge your understanding around citation best practices, the definition of plagiarism and how to improve your academic writing.

Assessment Misconduct

All summative assessments that you submit to the School are subject to the School's Regulations on Assessment Offences. You are expected to have read and understood these regulations before you submit your work to the School. If you are found to have committed an assessment offence, such as plagiarism (either deliberate or accidental including self-plagiarism), exam misconduct, collusion, contract cheating or using Artificial Intelligence software, you could be expelled from the School. For more information and support regarding the School's expected standards of academic integrity visit lse.ac.uk/assessmentdiscipline

When you submit your summative assessments (assessments that count towards your mark in a course) to the School you are expected to have read and understood the following academic integrity statement:

By submitting work to the School you confirm you will abide by and uphold the School's Code of Good Practice, Ethics Code and academic integrity as outlined in the School's Regulations on Assessment Offences and Department guidance and you also confirm that:

- the work in this assessment is solely your own; and
- you have not conferred or colluded with anyone in producing this specific assessment*; and
- you understand the use of AI tools to help with any part of your assessment is strictly prohibited unless some use is permitted as defined by the Department responsible for the assessment (see Departmental guidance); and
- where necessary, you have clearly cited and referenced the work of others appropriately to make clear which parts are your own work; and
- your submission does not re-use substantial/verbatim materials you have previously submitted to the School or elsewhere. To note, in some cases expanding on earlier formative or summative work may be permitted as defined by the Department responsible for the assessment (see Departmental guidance); and
- you understand the School has the right to ask you questions about the originality of your work if deemed necessary.

It is acceptable to consult with LSE LIFE for general study skills questions but not questions specific to the content of a particular assessment.*

You can seek advice about the School's rules regarding academic integrity from the Library (visit lse.ac.uk/library) and LSE LIFE (visit lse.ac.uk/lse-life)

You should also ensure that you adhere to the School's Research Ethics Policy and Procedures where appropriate when conducting research. Failure to obtain the necessary Ethics Approval for your research could result in your conduct being considered under the School's Research Misconduct Procedure. For more information visit lse.ac.uk/ethics

Results and Classification

Results

Final results are available once the relevant School Board of Examiners has ratified them. Provisional results are available for students taking January exams and for 12 month master's students.

Results are not released to students who owe debts to the School.

For more information on how and when results are released visit lse.ac.uk/results

If you need to take a deferred or resit assessment, more information about the resit period can be found at lse.ac.uk/re-entry

Classification schemes

Transcripts

Degree certificate

Classification schemes

Degrees are awarded according to the classification scheme. These schemes are applied by the Boards of Examiners when they meet to ratify your results. You can find the classification schemes at lse.ac.uk/calendar

Transcripts

Continuing students can request intermediate transcripts through the Student Services Centre immediately after ratified results have been published. Final transcripts are made available electronically through Parchment (formerly known as Digitary CORE) which allows them to be easily shared.

For more information about final transcripts please visit lse.ac.uk/transcripts

Degree certificate

Depending on when you are awarded your degree, you may have the opportunity to collect your certificate at graduation. Any certificates that are not collected are posted to the permanent home address we have on record. For more information, please visit lse.ac.uk/degreecertificates

Fees and Finance

Fees

All administration around your fees is handled by the Fees, Income and Credit Control Team.

LSE offers two options for payment of your tuition fees. You can either pay them in full prior to enrolment or by payment plan. If you have not paid your fees in full before you enrol you will be placed on a termly payment plan. You are expected to pay one third of your fees by:

28 October 2025 28 January 2026 28 April 2026

For payment plan options relating to Executive programmes, please see Instalment options Executive Programmes.

For tuition fee levels please visit lse.ac.uk/tableoffees

To pay online or to find out about the different payment methods available, visit info.lse.ac.uk/payments

Once you are enrolled you can access your financial details at any time to review your tuition and accommodation fees, invoices, payments and instalment arrangements by accessing the Student Finance Hub. Please visit our webpage to get full details lse.ac.uk/ficc

Unfortunately, it is not possible for you to pay in person.

The Fees, Income and Credit Control Office also run support services for students who wish to discuss fees, loans and payment related enquiries. For further information, please visit lse.ac.uk/ficc

For full details regarding tuition fees, charging policy, payment and instalment options, visit info.lse.ac.uk/policies

Financial Support Office

The Financial Support Office is responsible for administering a variety of scholarships, bursaries and funds for enrolled students.

Please contact us to discuss your options if you anticipate or experience financial difficulties, or if you have any questions about your LSE funding.

Codes and Charters

LSE Academic Code

LSE's Academic Code sets out what we are doing to deliver a consistent student experience across our School, and clarifies what you can expect from an LSE education.

The Academic Code brings together key principles that underpin students' education into a School-wide policy. Developed in partnership with LSE Students' Union, it sets the baseline to build on in four key areas: teaching standards, academic support, assessment and feedback, and student voice – areas that students have told us matter the most to them.

Read the Academic Code in full.

The Student Charter

Our Student Charter, written by students and staff, sets out how LSE's mission and ethos are reflected in the education you can expect to receive at the School, and in the diverse, equitable and inclusive community that we all contribute to and value.

The charter covers:

- Your education – what an LSE education is and how you can make the most of it
- Our community – what it means to be part of the LSE community and how to contribute
- Your future, our future – how to inspire future generations of LSE students. Find out more about the charter and read the full version online.

Codes of Good Practice

The Codes of Good Practice explain the responsibilities and requirements of both staff and students.

They set out what you can expect from your department in relation to your teaching and learning experience. The codes cover areas like the roles and responsibilities of Academic Mentors and Departmental Tutors, the structure of teaching at LSE and exams and assessment. The codes also lay out your responsibilities as a member of our community. You can find the codes of practice in the LSE calendar.

The Ethics Code

The Ethics Code details the principles by which the whole LSE community are expected to act.

We expect the highest possible ethical standards from all staff, students and governors. The Ethics Code sets out the School's commitment to the six ethics principles:

- Responsibility and Accountability
- Integrity
- Intellectual Freedom
- Equality of Respect and Opportunity
- Collegiality
- Sustainability.

Learn more about the Ethics Code.

Research Ethics

If you conduct research, you'll need to follow the Research Ethics policy and procedures.

Find resources, training and support on LSE research ethics. If you have any questions regarding research ethics or research conduct, please email research.ethics@lse.ac.uk

Student Hub

The Student Hub is LSE's app, designed to help you navigate your day-to-day life at LSE. With the Student Hub, you can:

- View your timetable and upcoming deadlines
- Find your way around with the campus map
- Keep up to date with news and events from around LSE in your newsfeed
- Book appointments with academic staff (office hours) and some support services.

Available on iOS and Android app stores or as a web app at studenthub.lse.ac.uk

Moodle

Moodle is LSE's virtual learning environment.

The majority of taught courses have a corresponding course on Moodle, the online learning platform used at LSE. Moodle courses contain essential resources such as lecture slides, lecture recordings and reading lists. Moodle also enables activities such as quizzes, discussion forums, and allows for online assignment submission, marking and feedback. How Moodle is used is determined by the course convenor and so this may vary from course to course. LSE also provides a Moodle Archive service which provides teachers and students with read-only access to previous year's courses.

You can access Moodle by visiting moodle.lse.ac.uk

LSE for You

LSE for You is a web portal which gives you access to a range of services. As part of ongoing development work, some of these services have been moved onto a new platform.

In Student LSE for You you can:

- View and update your term time (contact) and home (permanent) address
- Access your candidate number
- View your teaching timetable.

To select your courses, please use course selection in LSE for You.

Reset your IT password

You can reset your own IT password at the LSE Password website.

Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA)

MFA provides an extra layer of security on top of your username and password when you access our resources online – providing increased protection against cyber attacks.

Once set up, it is easy to use and manage via lse.ac.uk/mfa

Email

LSE will use your LSE email address to communicate with you, so check it regularly.

Microsoft Outlook is available on all public PCs. You can also access your email off-campus using webmail (mail.lse.ac.uk) or on the move via the outlook app. For help setting up email on your device search “LSE mobile email setup”.

Microsoft Office 365 @ LSE

All our students are eligible for a free copy of Microsoft Office 365 on their personal computers and devices.

Training and Development System

The Training and Development System allows you to book a place on many of the personal development opportunities offered around LSE.

You can access the Training and Development System at apps.lse.ac.uk/training-system

Log in using your LSE username and password.

Information security awareness training

The LSE Cyber Security Awareness Training can be self-enrolled at Course: LSE Cyber Security Awareness Training. We strongly advise you to complete the training which equips you with the skills to spot phishing emails, keep your data and devices safe, and protect your privacy.

LSE100

Welcome to LSE100

LSE100 is LSE's flagship interdisciplinary course taken by all undergraduate students in the first year of your degree programme. The course is designed to build your capacity to tackle multidimensional problems through research-rich education, and provides you with unique opportunities to examine global challenges in collaboration with peers from other departments and leading academics from across the School.

Your LSE100 theme

Before enrolling at LSE, you will have the opportunity to select one of three themes to focus on during LSE100, each of which foregrounds a complex and pressing question facing social scientists. In 2025/26, the available themes are:

- How can we control AI?
- How can we transform our climate futures?
- How can we create a fair society?

For more information about each theme, visit info.lse.ac.uk/current-students/lse100/Welcome

LSE100 is a single course, and the themes are highly interrelated. Whichever theme you choose to study, you will have the opportunity to investigate how issues from different themes relate to one another throughout the course, including in both your individual and group assessments.

Alongside learning about your chosen theme from a range of disciplinary perspectives, you will also study the tools and frameworks of systems thinking and systems change during LSE100. These are fields of interdisciplinary research that are being adopted by academics, policymakers, corporations, and NGOs. During LSE100, you will think holistically about how complex systems work and how the social sciences can enable positive change at a systemic level.

How will I study in LSE100?

LSE100 is a half unit course running across Autumn and Winter Terms in the first year of your undergraduate degree programme. Each term, you will attend five 90-minute interactive, discussion-based seminars in alternating weeks.

Before each seminar, you will use Moodle to watch short video lectures featuring leading LSE academics and complete carefully selected readings to explore ideas and arguments from across the social sciences.

How will I be assessed?

Your LSE100 mark will be based on two summative assessments: one individual written assessment (50 per cent) and one group research project (50 per cent) that you will submit and present as a team. Your final mark in LSE100 will be included with your other first year marks and, if it is one of your six best marks, will count towards your overall first year average.

Chat with the LSE100 team

If you have any questions for our team, please get in touch at LSE100@lse.ac.uk or visit the LSE100 Course Office in KSW 4.10 on the fourth floor of 20 Kingsway (KSW).
