

MSc Social and Cultural Psychology Structure
Code	Course name		Units	Compulsory / Term	Notes
PB400	Advances and Debates in Psychological and Behavioural Science		0	Compulsory AT	Compulsory non-credit bearing lecture series.
PB401	Contemporary, Social and Cultural Psychology		1	Compulsory AT	Core course and crux of the programme, introducing students to the essential theoretical and empirical insights of the MSc.
PB411	Methods for Social Psychology Research: Qualitative and Quantitative Methods		1	Semi-Comp AT	Students are required to take either PB411 or PB414 as part of the methodology component of their degree. Each PB course is made up of two MY courses which, when combined, will provide training in quantitative and qualitative methods in preparation of the empirical component of the dissertation. The default is PB411, but if a student is already well versed in quant methods, then they're welcome to enrol on PB414 as the advanced option.
	MY421: Qualitative Research Methods	MY465: Intermediate Quantitative Analysis
PB414	Advanced Methods for Social Psychology Research: Qualitative and Quantitative Methods		1	Semi- Comp AT
	MY421: Qualitative Research Methods	MY452: Applied Regression Analysis
PB417	Consumer Psychology for Sustainability		0.5	Optional WT	Students must choose two Winter term courses from this list that reflect their research interests. The highlighted courses – PB428, PB432 and PB458 are recommend to SCP students because they align with the core philosophical and intellectual trajectory of the programme. These courses are also taught by SCP faculty members, and most are supported by the SCP graduate teaching assistant.
PB418	Corporate Communications		0.5	Optional WT
PB421	Happiness		0.5	Optional WT
PB428	Political Psychology: Inequality and Intergroup Relations		0.5	Optional WT
PB429	Science, Innovation and the Human Future		0.5	Optional WT
PB431	Social Psychology of Economic Life: Advanced Topics		0.5	Optional WT
PB432	Social Representations: Social Knowledge and Contemporary Issues		0.5	Optional WT
PB433	Theory and Practice of Organisational Development		0.5	Optional WT
PB434	Behavioural Science in an Age of AI and New Technology		0.5	Optional WT
PB435	Behavioural Science for Planetary Wellbeing		0.5	Optional WT
PB436	The Science of Time at Work		0.5	Optional WT
PB438	Behavioural Science of Cross-Cultural Cooperation and Conflict		0.5	Optional WT
PB439	Leadership in challenging times		0.5	Optional WT
PB440	Modelling Minds in Society		0.5	Optional WT
PB457	Organisational Culture		0.5	Optional WT
PB458	Dialogue: Conflict & Negotiation		0.5	Optional WT
	Or: another Winter term option from the list. Students are only able to select one 0.5 course outside PBS		0.5	Optional WT
PB410	Dissertation		1	Compulsory WT/ST	Students are required to write a dissertation of 10,000 words on a subject of their choice that relates to the programme. Students will be paired with a supervisor in Winter term.

MSc programmes at LSE are made up of four units. Please take time to read through the programme regulations for MSc SCP so you fully understand how these units are allocated across the year. The above table is an overview of the four components that make up MSc SCP. Term dates can be found here. Below are three examples of what your MSc could look like based on what courses you choose:

Example 1 (most common combination based on past years):

PB401 (Core)

PB411 (Methods - made up of MY421 + MY465)

PB428: Political Psychology: Inequality and Intergroup Relations + PB432: Social Representations: Social Knowledge and Contemporary Issues (optional Winter course x 2, both PBS)

PB410 (Dissertation)

Example 2:

PB401 (Core)

PB414 (Advanced methods – made up of MY421 and MY452)

PB458: Dialogue: Conflict & Negotiation + PB457 Organisational Culture (optional Winter course x 2, both PBS)

PB410 (Dissertation)

Example 3:

PB401 (Core)

PB411 (Methods - made up of MY421 + MY465)

PB428: Political Psychology: Inequality & Intergroup Relations+ GI403 Gender and Media Representation (optional Winter courses x 2, one of which is a Gender Studies outside option)

PB410 (Dissertation)

Course Selection

Course selection opens for browsing only at 10am on Monday 21st September via LSE for You (LFY) and then opens fully to select the courses from 10am on Thursday 24th September. This can be accessed for two weeks until 5pm on Friday 9th October. In-depth guidance on course selection can be found here. Faculty will not start responding to optional course requests until Friday 25th so do not worry if you haven't heard back about any courses in the first day. We will discuss more during the programme induction but, in short, the process looks like this:

1. Students enrol on PB401 (core course) and PB410 (dissertation), both of which are compulsory courses on the programme. To do this, students input the course code in the search bar and select.
2. Students choose either PB411 or PB414 following the same process. Then you select the seminar choice option to pick a seminar for the MY courses.
3. Students apply for the two optional courses they would like to enrol on in conjunction to their programme regulations (see table above). Students need to provide a short statement (around 100 words) outlining motivation for optional courses (this is built into the interface). When submitted, this goes to the course lead who makes a decision (either accept, reject, or place on waiting list if course is already at capacity).
4. If accepted, the student then approves from their end to confirm their enrolment on the course.

- Students can only be enrolled on two 0.5 unit courses at any one time.

Important info regarding course selection

- Every optional course has a cap depending on how many seminars are running.
- You will have priority to enrol on PB428, PB432 and PB458.
- Course selection reopens in January before the start of Winter Term. It is not unusual for students to move optional courses during this window after reflecting on the academic content they have been exposed to during Autumn term however there may be limited capacity by January so will need to contact your PM/PD.

Timetabling

All timetabling can be found here. More information about this will be discussed at the programme induction. For PB401 it looks like this:

Code	Teaching Title	Type	Grp	Day	Room	Start	Finish	AT Wks	WT Wks	ST Wks
PB401	PB401 Contemporary Social and Cultural Psychology	LEC	1	Tue	FAW.2.04	10:00	12:00	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11
PB401	PB401 Contemporary Social and Cultural Psychology	SEM	1	Thu	OLD.1.16	11:00	12:30	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11
PB401	PB401 Contemporary Social and Cultural Psychology	SEM	2	Thu	OLD.1.16	12:30	14:00	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11
PB401	PB401.1 Contemporary Social and Cultural Psychology - Recap Session	LEC	1	Tue	CKK.2.06	10:00	13:00			1

- All lectures are on campus.
- The department will allocate you into seminars for all core PB courses, however you will be able to select your own seminars for most PB half unit options. Note, seminar times/rooms are subject to change, we will notify you of any updates.
- For MY course, you choose one seminar per course via LFY seminar choice (there are lots of options for all MY courses). You are taking three courses in AT: PB401 and MY421; along with either MY465 or MY452 depending on which methodology package you choose (PB411 or PB414). In week 1 after Welcome Week you only have PB401 (MY courses start in week 2). As you can see the PB401 lecture will be on Tuesday, and you will be allocated into a seminar that occurs on Thursday.
- Your personal timetable can be viewed via Studenthub once course selection is complete.

If, at any point, you have questions about the above, or anything at all, feel free to reach out to your programme manager Chris Roberts at pbs.msc@lse.ac.uk. Before Welcome Week you will also be allocated an academic mentor. You will meet them during Welcome Week and you can either email or book a meeting with them throughout term.