Biography

David Metcalf is Emeritus Professor at the Centre for Economic Performance at the London School of Economics. He has been a visiting Professor at Princeton University and the Australian National University. He has worked extensively on the economics of the workplace (e.g. unions, payment systems) and on employment and unemployment. Outside the LSE he is Chair of the Migration Advisory Committee which defines shortage occupations under the points-based system and provides general advice on the economics of immigration. He is also a member of the Senior Salaries Review Body. He was a founder member of the Low Pay Commission from 1997-2007. He owns a share of a national hunt horse and is a Director of the Starting Price Regulatory Commission. He was awarded the CBE in the 2008 New Year Honours list and a Knighthood in the 2013 Birthday Honours. He is the only non-American to be made an Academic Fellow of the Labor and Employment Relations Association.
