

LSE Undergraduate Offer Holder Newsletter 2 (Home UK)

Dear offer holder,

As you start to prepare to join us in September, we know that you may be thinking about financial support, fees and budgeting. In this edition, you'll find information about funding, alongside opportunities for bursaries and scholarships plus helpful advice on budgeting for life in London.

Financial support

We offer a range of generous bursaries and scholarships for its undergraduate students. You can find out more on our website, including information on external Government funding, the support available and key deadlines.

Featured Scholarship - Uggle Family Scholars Programme

The Uggle Family Scholars Programme typically has seven scholarships available for new Home fee status undergraduate students, providing generous awards worth over £22,000 per year, alongside guidance, support and opportunities throughout your undergraduate studies.

Cici, who receives a scholarship through the Uggle Family Scholars Programme, shares her experience and provides a handy guide on how to apply for LSE scholarships in the video below:

Managing the cost of living and financial support at LSE

As you start to prepare to come to university and live in London, it's important that you plan your finances and budget efficiently.

We estimate that students should allow £1,300-£1,400 per month for all living expenses, including accommodation, travel, food, laundry, study costs, and other personal expenses. However, this will vary depending on your lifestyle.

Destination LSE

Our Destination LSE events offer you the chance to learn more about the School and ask any questions you may have.

Ask an Alum is now available for offer holders!

Ask an Alum is a new digital tool that enables undergraduate offer holders and LSE alumni to connect with each other to seek advice on a particular topic – from how to start a career in a specific industry to the best tips for relocating to a new city. The tool uses AI to match questions received via a simple online form to the alumni who are best placed to answer them.

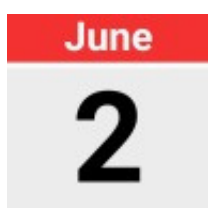

Mark your calendar

We've put together a list of key deadlines to help you stay on top of important dates:
