

Destination LSE: Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

About SEAC:

Multidisciplinary Research Centre focused on Southeast Asia

Our Mission:

1. Push the boundaries of Southeast Asian Research
2. Build a network of exceptional Southeast Asia Scholars
3. Promoting Dialogue and Engagement

Student Opportunities:

- Funding opportunities
- Events
- SEAC Blogs

Destination LSE: Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

Funding Opportunities: Undergraduate Research Fellowship

SEAC's Undergraduate Research Fellowship (URF) scheme offer the opportunity to undertake paid Research Assistance and gain valuable mentoring from a Senior Academic: a SEAC Centre Associate. URFs are expected to gain important insight into the work of an academic in planning, conducting and disseminating scholarly research.

Applications will be announced in January 2022

<https://www.lse.ac.uk/seac/research/SEAC-Undergraduate-Research-Fellowship>

SOUTHEAST ASIA

Destination LSE: Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

Angbeen Abbas

BSc Sociology

Angbeen is working with SEAC Associate Prof Katherine Brickell (Professor of Human Geography at Royal Holloway, University of London) for her project entitled, "ReFashion Study: Social Protection and the Gendered Impacts of COVID-19 in the Cambodian Garment Industry"

Jimin Oh

BSc International, Social and Public Policy

Jimin is working with SEAC Associate Dr Sin Yee Koh (Senior Lecturer in Global Studies, School of Arts and Social Sciences, Monash University Malaysia) for her project entitled, "Lifestyle Im/mobilities in/to Malaysia in the COVID-19 Era"

Destination LSE: Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

Funding Opportunities:

Southeast Asia Student Dissertation Fieldwork Grant

For current LSE undergraduate and taught master's students for field research in the Southeast Asia region as part of their assessed dissertation. The funding may contribute towards travel expenses and on-site research expenses, up to a maximum of £500 per applicant.

Applications will be announced in December 2021

<https://www.lse.ac.uk/seac/research/Southeast-Asia-Student-Dissertation-Fieldwork-Grant>

SOUTHEAST ASIA

Destination LSE: Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

This grant has undoubtedly allowed me to significantly expand the scope of my research without stretching myself too thin. Southeast

Asia also has a lot to offer to academics, regardless of their background. It is a region with a rich history and cultural diversity (linguistic, religious, ethnic, etc.) that deserves more attention than it currently receives.

I intend to use the Dissertation Fieldwork Grant funds for access to and reproduction of archival records. I will also be using the funds for research-related travel to Singapore's National Archives and other reference libraries. These grant funds are important because they provide with the financial safety net to access research resources that would otherwise have been inaccessible to me.

Secondly, these grant funds gives me with the assurance that LSE SEAC and its benefactors believe in the potential of my research aims and subject matter.

SOUTHEAST ASIA

Destination LSE: Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

Events

The Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre hosts wide and varied events, with the aim to build upon a history of engagement between the LSE and Southeast Asia. All events for Michaelmas Term will be online, and many will be hybrid with in-person options.

SEAC Seminars: Once a week, varied speakers and Q&A

SEAC Public Events: Major speakers

SEAC Dialogues: Practitioners share their insights and experiences

Southeast Asia Forum: Flagship week-long events (week 5)

Videos of previous events are on our website

<https://www.lse.ac.uk/seac/events>

SOUTHEAST ASIA

Destination LSE: Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

LSE Southeast Asia Blog

Analysing and debating the Southeast Asia region's critical and pressing issues

Latest posts

Announcement: SEAC's COVID-19 and Southeast Asia research project ★

JUNE 1ST, 2020

Building digitally resilient communities in Southeast Asia amidst current societal challenges

How activists are using Facebook in Myanmar for democratic ends, but Facebook itself also facilitated hate speech

Tension and Interaction between 'Digital Informality' and 'Analogue Informality' in Bangkok

LSE
Saw Swee Hock
Southeast Asia Centre

LSE
Field Research
Methods Lab

Join SEAC's mailing list to receive the latest news

Your email address  Sign up

Recent Posts

Building digitally resilient communities in Southeast Asia amidst current societal challenges
How activists are using Facebook in Myanmar for democratic ends, but Facebook itself also facilitated hate speech

FIELD RESEARCH METHODS LAB

An online platform supported by the LSE Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

Latest posts

Call for Contributions ★

APRIL 21ST, 2021

Subscribe to Blog via Email

Enter your email address to subscribe to this blog and receive notifications of new posts by email.

Email Address:  Subscribe

Categories

Announcements (2)
Archival research (2)
Book review (4)
Boundary Crossing (13)
Comparative Studies (4)
Data management (2)
Digital research (3)
Elite Interviews (5)
Emotions in the field (9)
Ethnography (27)
Featured (3)

Book review:
Decolonizing
Ethnography:
Undocumented
Immigrants and New

Gaining Access to People between the State and Citizens in the Field

Going beyond Known Knowledge with Ethnographers' Reflexivity in a Working-class Neighborhood

Destination LSE: Saw Swee Hock Southeast Asia Centre

Connect with us:

Twitter: @LSESEAC

Facebook: @LSESEAC

Email: seac.admin@lse.ac.uk

www.lse.ac.uk/seac

