

Double Degree News June 2023

Dear ,

Welcome to your June's newsletter. The focus topics are Careers, visa information and enrolment. Remember you can access the January newsletter under the Double Degrees tab on our website.

You may also want to keep up to date with our latest News and Events page.

Don't hesitate to contact Vali from Graduate Admissions if you have any questions at grad.dual.degree@lse.ac.uk.

Paying your tuition fees

As incoming Double Degree students you may pay your tuition fees using the different payment methods mentioned our fee pages by clicking in the 'Make a payment' tab. Should you have any further questions with regard to tuition fees please contact our fees office

The fees for 2022/23 starters can be found here under the heading 'Double Degree and Two Year Programmes'

Meeting your conditions All students should have met their offer conditions by now, accepted their offer and submitted the Financial Underrating form. You can check this when you log in to your Graduate Applicant Portal. If there are still outstanding conditions to be met please contact us asap at grad.dual.degree@lse.ac.uk.

LSE Careers is here to work with you throughout your time at LSE and beyond. From starting to think about your career in the first place, to finding vacancies, making job applications, and securing roles, you can get support from LSE Careers at every stage of your career planning.

Whatever your level of study, wherever you're joining LSE from, and whether or not you have previous work experience, we can support you to plan and take your next steps. We also offer bespoke services for Disabled students and PhD students, with careers consultants who specialise in these areas in relation to employment.

Start planning your next steps

If you're looking for tips on how to begin your career planning, or perhaps for some ideas of resources that might be useful to you right now, visit the career planning section of our website.

Not quite sure where to start? Book a one-to-one careers discussion appointment with one of our friendly careers consultants to explore your options.

Get experience and make connections

Whether you're looking to develop your skills, find out whether you enjoy working in a particular sector, or make new connections within your industry, regularly check CareerHub for our upcoming events and opportunities. We run several sector-specific careers fairs and employer networking events throughout the year, as well as offering opportunities for you to talk to LSE alumni

Interested in starting your own business? Visit LSE Generate, LSE's hub of entrepreneurship.

Find a job and apply

From job search strategy workshops, to online tools and resources, we offer lots of opportunities for you to kickstart and refine your job search. You can view and apply for a range of career opportunities both in the UK and around the world via our CareerHub jobs board.

While you're applying for roles, you might also like to book an appointment with a careers consultant to review your CV or cover letter, or to practice your interview technique. Each year we also run several mock assessment centre sessions to help you hone your skills and understand what to expect at the real thing.

Discover more about what LSE graduates have gone on to do.

How to contact us

Message us: Live chat

Email: careers@lse.ac.uk

Visit us on the 5th floor of the Saw Swee Hock Student Centre.

Where to go to find out more about LSE Careers

Website: lse.ac.uk/careers

Blog: blogs.lse.ac.uk/careers

CareerHub: careers.lse.ac.uk

Twitter: @LSECareers

LinkedIn: LSE-Careers

Facebook: /LSECareers through 'Meet an alum' events or using LSE's AI-powered 'Ask an Alum' tool.

Another way to gain experience and build your network is through volunteering. Visit the LSE Volunteer Centre website for support with volunteering.

Instagram: @LSECareers

TikTok: @LSECareers

Visa Information

This guidance is for students on one of our double/joint degree programmes. The advice varies depending on whether you will be spending your first or second year at LSE. Check that the question applies to your individual circumstances.

I am doing the MSc Double Degree in Global Media and Communications. Who will issue my CAS and when can I apply for my visa?

Your CAS will be issued by Graduate Admissions. If you are applying outside the UK, you will be able to apply for your Student visa a maximum of six months before your sponsorship start date as shown on your CAS. If you are applying for your Student visa from inside the UK, you can only apply three months before your programme start date.

I am doing the MSc Double Degree in Global Media and Communications. If I transfer to the classic track after obtaining my visa, will I be eligible for the Graduate Route?

Sponsorship end dates may vary between USC, UCT and Fudan depending on the requirements of the partner institution and accessing funding for the second year of the degree. If your period of study is less than 12 months then you will only be granted an additional two months at the end of your visa. This would still give you time to transfer to

Will I be eligible for the Graduate Route working visa if year two of my double-degree is based overseas?

You will not be eligible for the Graduate Route if year two of degree is overseas. LSE only sponsors you on a Student visa for year one of your degree. To be eligible for the Graduate Route you must apply from within the UK from a valid, Student visa. Other options are available.

I am attending LSE in the second year of my degree. Who will issue my CAS and when can I apply for my visa?

If you are spending the second year of your degree at LSE, you will need to request a CAS number from LSE's Student Advice and Engagement team using the online form. Your CAS will not be issued until your student record for the 2023/24 academic year has been created in the summer.

Your first point of call for your CAS is the Student Advice and Engagement Team in the Student Services Centre. Graduate Admissions have no involvement in the issuing of your CAS and you should not contact them to expedite your case nor can they set an expectation on when you will receive it. There are many processes which belong to the Student Services Centre that need to be completed prior to issuing your CAS, many of complete the classic track, but you would not have sufficient time to receive your results and apply for the Graduate Route. You would also not be able to extend your Student visa after enrolling under law. Please seek advice before transferring if your plan is to remain in the UK to work, as it may be better to make this decision at application stage.

If I am at LSE for my first year, will I have a Student visa for the full two years of my programme?

No. LSE will only sponsor your Student visa for the time you are expected to be studying at the LSE. We are unable to keep you sponsored on a Student visa for the second year of your programme.

which relate to LSE's student body as a whole and not just double-degree students.

If your record is correct both from an admissions perspective and for the next academic year, you should receive your CAS in sufficient time for you to apply and arrive at LSE as expected.

It is not possible to issue a CAS with an earlier start date to enable you to come to the UK sooner.

I am on the LSHTM/LSE MSc joint degree. Who is my visa sponsor?

LSHTM act as the sponsors for the MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing degree. They will issue your CAS and complete any compliance requirements, including verification for the Graduate Route.

You should always seek advice on your visa from LSHTM as you are sponsored by them and therefore, it is their sponsor licence which will be affected. We will always refer you to LSHTM for advice.

Where can I find advice on applying for a Student visa?

The Student Advice and Engagement Team has detailed advice on applying for a Student visa on the following web page:

I plan to do research in the UK during the summer. Can I come as a tourist and apply from the UK or will LSE expedite my CAS.

You cannot apply for a Student visa in the UK if you have entered as a tourist. You would not be permitted to enrol on your degree programme and your visa application would be refused. You would have to return home to apply for a Student visa, which may affect your ability to join your programme.

LSE is unable to expedite CAS numbers due to personal plans.

I'm an EU/EEA national who planned to commute to LSE for my classes. Can I study at LSE on a tourist visa (Standard Visitor visa)?

You will be unable to enrol for your degree at LSE on a Standard Visitor visa. Therefore, you will need to obtain a Student visa to join your programme, although the intention of this

<https://info.lse.ac.uk/current-students/immigration-advice/applying-for-a-Student-visa>

You should refer to the section for Taught Masters and Diploma students for information on your level of study. LSHTM sponsored students should refer to the advice provided by LSHTM.

When can I apply for my visa?

You can apply up to six months in advance of your official programme start date if you are applying from overseas. However, this doesn't mean you will be able to come to the UK sooner as it will still be issued in line with the immigration rules. Further details can be found in our guidance.

You can apply up to a maximum of three months in advance if you are submitting your application in the UK.

Where can I apply for my Student visa?

You can only apply for a Student visa in a country you are legally living in e.g. you have the right of residence. This could either be your home country or the country where you have studied for the first year of your degree.

You may also be able to apply using the UK: Immigration ID Check app. You can find out more in our info sheet.

We are aware that some students may undertake research in a third country over the summer. You should plan to be able to apply for your Student visa for LSE in a country where you can submit a valid application.

visa is that you remain in the UK whilst holding it. Also, you cannot work or switch into a work permit in the UK on a Standard Visitor visa.

Even though you can apply using the UK Immigration ID Check App, you must apply outside the UK.

What happens if I interrupt my studies?

If you interrupt your studies, the Visa Compliance team will be required to report this to the Home Office. This will lead to the curtailment of your Student visa. More information can be found on our web pages about changes to your programme of study.

What happens if I do not progress from my first year of studies at LSE?

If you fail to progress at the end of your first year at LSE, the Visa Compliance team will submit a report to the Home Office. This will curtail your visa. Information on how to return for retakes or deferred assessments can be found on our web pages.

The resit and deferred assessment period will take place in January, so if you cannot progress and have to take assessments during this period, there may be a gap before you can attend your second year.

Who can I contact for further information?

- MSc HPPF students must speak to LSHTM because they are your Student visa sponsors.
- All other students should speak to the Student Advice and Engagement Team about their visa.

Enrolment

An automated email will go out on 23 August 2023 with information about the online pre-enrolment. Please keep an eye for this email checking also your spam, junk folder in case it has been filtered there.

Note that you will be able to pre-enrol once progression has been confirmed and for LSHTM students, once your offer is unconditional. Campus enrolment will be on allocated dates.

The campus enrolment schedule will be published next week and information will be published here

All Rights Reserved. © Copyright 2023.

London School of Economics and Political Science

Houghton Street
London WC2A 2AE
www.lse.ac.uk