

Offer Holder News June 2023

Dear ,

Welcome to our June newsletter, with a focus on Careers. There's also some information from our Fees, Income and Credit Control Team about completing the Financial Undertaking Form.

If you have missed any of our previous issues, you can find them on this page.

Over the next few months we will continue to send you updates via these newsletters to help you prepare for your arrival at LSE.

We hope that you enjoy this month's issue, and look forward to welcoming you later this year.

Kind regards,

Graduate Admissions Office

Before you arrive

Each module highlights how LSE Careers will work with you when you become part of the LSE community, and introduces you to your career development cycle.

Which module should you start with?

- What do I want? What are my options? What can I do next? – If you're asking these questions, check out our 'Understand' module.
- What's out there? How do I get the kind of insight I need? Will I really like doing this job? – If you're asking these questions, check out our 'Explore' module.
- How relevant is what I've done so far? How do I build on all my experiences? What else do I need to do? – If you're asking these questions, check out our 'Experience' module.
- How do I get what I want? When do I need to apply? Is my application strong enough? – If you're asking these questions, check out our 'Implement' module.

COURSE CHANGES FOR 2023-24

From time to time, LSE has to change the course modules it makes available to new and continuing students. The LSE Calendar website sets out any graduate course changes for the 2023-24 academic year. We will have emailed you directly, already, if any of the core courses on your chosen programme have been suspended. However, you may also want to view optional course changes across all programmes as you prepare to join us in Autumn. Please note, this page is updated with additions and changes, so please do check it
