

Dear Corinne,

Welcome to our June newsletter, as we focus on careers support you can get during your time at LSE and beyond.

If you have missed any of our previous issues, you can find them on this page.

Over the next few months we will continue to send you updates via these newsletters to help you prepare for your arrival at LSE.

We hope that you enjoy this month's issue, and look forward to welcoming you later this year.

Kind regards,

Graduate Admissions Office

---

Support from LSE Careers – connect with your future

Whether you're studying at LSE to strengthen your specialist skills, prepare for a career change, or continue exploring what your next steps could look like, LSE Careers is here to help you understand, identify and work towards your career goals.

This could be working with you to realise how your values and priorities can contribute to your career progression, or it could be providing opportunities for you to explore different sectors, get

Quick Links

Graduate Admissions

Offer Pack

Term dates

Graduate Applicant Portal \(GAP\)

Knowledgebase

insights from LSE alumni, or meet with employers looking to recruit LSE graduates.

Here's a taste of what careers support you can expect when you arrive at LSE:

- Events

From opportunities to connect with LSE alumni and network with employers, to the chance to explore careers in different industries and sectors, you can join LSE Careers' varied events programme across the academic year, including our flagship careers fairs.

Find out more about LSE Careers events.

- Appointments

From one-to-one careers discussions, to practice interviews, to specific appointments for Disabled students, PhDs and research staff, the LSE Careers team is there to discuss your next steps, either in person or online.

Find out more about the different types of appointment

- Opportunities

Looking for a part-time job, work experience, or an experienced hire role? Once you become an LSE student, you'll be able to use your LSE login to access our online careers portal and vacancy board, where you'll be able to find and filter a range of opportunities to suit your interests.

Find out more about jobs and opportunities.

- Resources

Visit the LSE Careers website to explore a range of careers information and resources, including practical tips and sector-specific information.

Check out the LSE Careers blog for alumni stories, event round ups, and top tips from our careers consultants.

Careers

Graduate Destinations

LSESU

CMA

Programme and course information

Programme and course information UPDATES

News from around LSE

LSE ranked top university in London

Video of the month:

AI and the Future of Organisations: Insights for Business | LSE Executive Education

LSE Events:

Global trends in climate litigation 2025: report launch

Thursday 26 June 2025
6:30pm to 8:00pm

Hosted by the Grantham Research Institute on Climate Change and the Environment and the Global School of Sustainability

Before you arrive

You may be wondering what careers-focused activities, research and learning you can do before you begin your postgraduate journey at LSE.

Here are five things you can do before you arrive to kickstart your career planning:

1. Familiarise yourself with application deadlines – in many sectors, applications open very early in the academic year and sometimes even before it begins. To make the most of this, we recommend researching your sector\(s\) and preparing to apply before you arrive at LSE.
1. Join STEP into LSE Careers on Moodle – if you're an incoming master's student, complete this online course to get started with your career planning (please note: you will only be able to access this once you have an LSE email address).
2. Read this student blog – 'Making the most of LSE Careers as a postgraduate student'
3. Explore what's coming up at LSE Careers – while you won't be able to join our summer events series, you might like to check out what's coming up, as well as the sorts of events we held in 2024/25 and when (our 2025/26 programme will be fairly similar!).

What do LSE graduates do?

LSE consistently ranks highly in terms of graduate employability and earnings – and our alumni go on to work in a broad range of sectors all over the world.

For more information about what LSE alumni do after graduation, you can check out our latest graduate outcomes data. Explore destinations by department, programme, sector, and more, and see where your peers have landed after their time at LSE.

4. Check out what else you can get involved with across LSE – there are lots of opportunities to develop your professional skills while at LSE, and the handy 'My skills and opportunities' hub showcases these in one place.

Access to a global graduate network

There are more than 230,000 alumni in the LSE community – based in over 200 countries.

As an LSE student and then graduate, you'll have opportunities to forge connections across our global network, including with your peers and with employers keen to recruit fellow LSE alumni.

You can attend sector-specific 'Meet an alum' events through LSE Careers to gather career planning tips from LSE graduates, or gain valuable insight from former students through LSE's Ask an Alum tool.

There are also hundreds of alumni groups across the world you can join. These can be especially useful when looking for roles in a particular country.

Careers support for international students

Whether you're considering working in the UK after your studies or planning to return to your home country post-graduation, LSE Careers has lots of resources to help you thrive during your time at LSE and beyond.

We run several dedicated internationally-focussed careers programmes across the academic year, including:

- Careers in the UK for international students

- Careers in China and Hong Kong SAR
- Careers in Brussels
- Careers in the US and Canada
- Careers in India

Through LSE Careers, you also get access to some of the best career tools out there. One of these is Student Circus, which has global jobs boards and country guides.

If you are considering working in the UK, we strongly recommend that you familiarise yourself with application deadlines – in many sectors, applications begin very early into the academic year, and sometimes even before it starts, so we strongly recommend researching your sector(s) and preparing to apply before you arrive at LSE.

Careers support for working professionals

Professionals at LSE is a network and programme of career management and professional development, specifically designed to support our working professional community. Open to all current students and alumni with five or more years of work experience, Professionals at LSE features a range of events and collaborations across the academic year and beyond. Find out more about Professionals at LSE

Connect with LSE Careers

Stay up to date with everything LSE Careers by following us on social media:

- Instagram: @LSECareers
- TikTok: @LSECareers

- X: @LSECareers
- LinkedIn: LSECareers

Got a question? Get in touch via:

- Online chat: Chat with us
- Email: careers@lse.ac.uk

We look forward to welcoming you to LSE and if you have any questions before you join, please get in touch.

Calling all Postgrads!

We're reopening applications for postgraduate students to become consent.ed facilitators—and we want you to help lead the way. As a facilitator, you'll guide workshops that spark important conversations about consent, boundaries, and respectful relationships. This is your chance to develop valuable skills, make a real impact on campus, and be part of a passionate community driving positive change.

Apply now

DON'T FORGET to complete and submit your Financial Undertaking Form (FUF) on the GAP. You can submit a new FUF later if information changes (i.e. you get a scholarship!) and it really helps us to plan for September.

Complete your FUF (GAP login)

All Rights Reserved. © Copyright 2025.

London School of Economics and Political Science
Houghton Street
London WC2A 2AE
www.lse.ac.uk