Section A - Confirm Personal Details

This section allows you to review read-only personal details and programme choices, including your alumni status. This information has been automatically completed using information you have already supplied in your application for admission to the School. If you feel any of this information may be incorrect, please contact the Graduate Admissions Office.

Section B - Other Personal Details

If you have received any scholarships for your education to date, you should provide details.

You can add, edit, or delete additional personal details relating to previous scholarships held for other study and save changes. Click Add to create a new entry.

You can also add if you were in receipt of a contextual offer of admission for your undergraduate study. This only applies to student who studied in the UK.

Section C - Personal and Household Circumstances

This section is to establish your current financial situation.

C.1 Personal Income

Please indicate whether in the last 12 months before your proposed programme at LSE (i.e., October - September) you have been working or studying.

You should indicate as many of these that apply to you, since at different points of this year you may be engaged in different activities. You may be engaged in other activities, such as voluntary work or travel, instead of or as well as working/studying, but there is no need to indicate this here.

If you have been employed at any point during the year and earned an income, please answer yes to having an income stream and the enter the details, you can add the amount in your local currency. If you have held several jobs during the year in question, please list all of them. You can use the add button to create multiple entries.

You will also need to add documentary evidence of the amount you have entered. Examples of this would be your payslip, annual tax return, employment contract. Please label the files carefully when you submit them.

C.2 Household Details and Income

If you live alone (or in a shared house), not with my family or partner and my extended household is not contributing to my studies and I have no dependents, you can answer Yes and move on to the next section.

If you are part of a household that would mean the group of people you ordinarily live with as a family. This could include parents, partner and/or dependents. It would not normally include people you are living with in a flat or house share, unless these people are supporting you and the household financially.

You should list all your household members, and their income, you can add the amount in your local currency.

You will also need to add documentary evidence of the amount you have entered. Examples of this would be your payslip, annual tax return, employment contract. Please label the files carefully when you submit them.

If you expect to receive household support during your studies, you will be asked to provide details in section D.

C.3 Historic Household and Personal Income

This section covers your household and your personal previous incomes for the three years preceding the start of your programme.

There is also the opportunity to add a short description of your income and any significant changes during that period.

C.4 Undergraduate Loan

Please list any loans you have already taken out to finance your previous or current (if you are currently studying) study, including the academic year in which you took it out, the amount you borrowed, the amount you have outstanding and the period of time you have in which to repay it.

If you took out a loan from the same source for more than one year of your undergraduate degree, there is no need to enter these separately. For example, if you took a loan from Student Finance in the UK, for your undergraduate degree, you need only enter the total debt you have accrued during the duration of your degree (and the repayment period on these can be listed as "30 years").

If you have not taken out loans to finance your previous or current study, please give some information about how you are financing your undergraduate degree, e.g., help from family/household, scholarships, government support.

Section D - Financing Your Programme

This section covers whether you expect to receive contributions from anyone outside your household and whether you have any other sources of personal income, including access to loans or taking on part time work.

D.1 Loan Information

Please tick one of the following in relation to your ability to take out a full or partial loan to support your studies.

If you intend to take out a loan you will be able to enter the amount in both your local currency and GBP. These are mandatory fields that you need to complete in order to move on to the next section.

LSE does not offer loans to students. It does not recommend any particular lending institution and nor does it have any preferential agreements. Loans are a private arrangement between you and a lending institution and are subject to the usual credit and eligibility checks.

D.2 Household Contribution

We need to know whether you will receive any financial support from your household. You may currently be living away from your family/household for a temporary period of time, e.g., for the purposes of studying, but this is not relevant since we require information about the people you ordinarily live with, if they will be providing you with financial support for your programme at LSE. If you are expecting to receive some support from your household, you will need to enter the amount they are going to provide and their relationship to you.

D.3 Outside Household Contribution

Continuing the assessment of any other financial support you have access to for your studies at LSE from anyone outside your household (e.g., grandparent, aunt) for your studies. If yes you will need to the amount they are going to provide and their relationship to you.

D.4 Other sources of income

Do you have any other personal income sources that will support you during your studies, this may include savings or the sale of assets, such as property or a car, interest from savings or social security benefits. Figures must be given in number format, in £ sterling.

D.5 Financial Support

Have you been applied or intend to apply for any other non-LSE financial support towards the cost of your programme. Please enter the details or explain why you are not able to.

D.6 Part Time work

Many students supplement their income by taking on part time work whilst studying, the School strongly recommends that you work no more than 15 hours per week, the total number of hours is capped at 600 hours, any paid work undertaken must be allowed by your student visa, if applicable.

Section E - Summary of Secured Funding

This section summarises the total financing you have entered against the projected expenses of the programme fees plus living costs, and any shortfall between the two.

We have pre-populated the costs associated with your master's programme. The tuition fees are populated based on your first-choice programme and will be amended should you subsequently receive an offer for a programme where the tuition fee is higher or lower.

You can also enter the minimum amount of financial support you think you will need and the reason why the value is different to the calculated shortfall.

Section F - Personal Statement and post study plans

F.1 Personal Statement and Post Study Plans

You are required to write a personal statement, of no more than 8,000 characters including spaces, explaining why you have applied for financial support.

We recommend that you cover the following in your statement; details about your background, life experiences and why you are applying for funding, your academic interests, outline your career objectives and demonstrate how your studies at LSE will contribute to these objectives, if applicable, explain how it will contribute to the future development of your country.

You can also add details of your future plans and confirmation of your agreement to be considered for all LSE funding that you are eligible for.

Section G – Declaration

In this section, you are required to confirm that the information you are submitting is true and correct, to the best of your knowledge, that you are happy for us to share this information to scholarship donors, and that you understand that financial support may be withdrawn if you are unable to provide supporting documentation relating to the information I have supplied. You will need to tick all checkboxes to proceed.

Submission of your completed application

Once you have completed all the sections your summary page will show as below, with green ticks next to each section. You can go back in and edit any of the sections by clicking edit on the right-hand side of the page.

Graduate Financial Support Application

Thank you for submitting the LSE Graduate Financial Support Application. If you receive an offer of admission, we will let you know the outcome of your consideration for assistance from the Graduate Support Scheme on the relevant programme application page.

If you are unsuccessful with obtaining assistance from the Graduate Support Scheme, we will use the information provided on your LSE Graduate Financial Support Application to consider you for any other LSE scholarships for which you are eligible.

View submitted application

When you have submitted your application, you will see an acknowledgement screen confirming that your application has been submitted.

Outcomes and Decisions

If you hold an offer of admission and submit the Graduate Financial Support Application you will normally receive an outcome decision on your eligibility for a Graduate Support Scheme (GSS) Award after 24 hours via the Graduate Applicant Portal.

Graduate Support Scheme Awards

If you are offered a GSS award this will be shown via the Graduate Applicant Portal. You will not normally be considered for any further funding from LSE, as a GSS award will cover 100% of your funding shortfall as calculated by the Graduate Financial Support application.

If your financial circumstances, fee status, mode of study or programme of study changes, any award will be reviewed and may be amended or withdrawn.

Further information on the terms and conditions attached to all Graduate Support Scheme awards: Graduate Support Scheme award conditions

Other LSE awards

LSE does not have sufficient funding to be able to support as many applicants as we would like with awards from the Graduate Support Scheme. Competition for scholarships at Masters level is very strong.

If you are not offered a GSS award, you will be considered for all the other LSE awards for which you are eligible, (selection will be based on your response to question F.2), using the information you provided on the Graduate Financial Support Application.

We will only contact successful applicants regarding the outcome of these awards. Successful applicants will be contacted throughout May and June as decisions are made, we hope to have notified all successful applicants by the end of July 2026. If you have not heard from the Financial Support Office by 31 July 2026, then unfortunately your application has been unsuccessful.

Hints and Tips

In the application you will see ⓘ - these provide additional guidance information.
