

Welcome to LSE

Dear {!Contact.FirstName},

We're looking forward to your arrival on campus in September! In this newsletter, we've put together further information about how you can prepare for life and study at the School.

Pre-enrolment online

Remember to pre-enrol using the email you received last week from our Academic Registrar, Mark Thomson.

Pre-enrolment gives you access to your network account, teaching and learning materials and the Prepare to learn at LSE course.

Welcome Guide

Check out our Guide to Welcome which is now available to download from the Welcome website. Plan your first few weeks and find out more about essential events and activities during Welcome.

Get vaccinated to help keep our community safe and well

We strongly encourage you to get vaccinated for COVID-19 ahead of coming to campus if you haven't yet been double-vaccinated. You'll also be able to get vaccinated on campus, as St Philips Medical Centre will be hosting pop-up vaccination clinics from September - more details coming soon.

Free LSE hoodie

Find out how to order your free department-branded LSE hoodie, to help you feel part of our community and your department. Make sure you order by 10 September.

If you have a disability

The Disability and Wellbeing Service \(DWS\) arranges adjustments and provides support for students who have a disability, long term health condition, mental health condition or Specific Learning Difficulty (SpLD).

We offer confidential advice and identify additional support you need and share this with key LSE staff through 'My Adjustments'. If you would like to access this support, please complete the DWS Access to Service form and DWS staff will get in touch with

Rooms available in halls of residence

If you have still not booked a room in a hall of residence, but would like still have some rooms available in our undergraduate halls. Please visit our website to find out further information.

LSE Students' Union Welcome Fest

The LSESU has a range of events lined up throughout September to help you make the most of your time at LSE.

Complete your online consent training before you arrive on campus

LSE and the LSE Students' Union aim to create a safe environment for all students by tackling sexual harassment and sexual violence.

We all benefit from learning more about what it means to seek and give consent, as well as how to safely intervene when a situation isn't quite right.

This course aims to empower you to make positive decisions about your interactions with others and provide information on where you can get support whilst at LSE. The course is available here and is a core part of Welcome, so make sure you complete it before you arrive!
