

In this edition of Get Ready for LSE, we're sharing information about the academic support we have available at the School.

Prepare to learn at LSE

Once you complete online pre-enrolment and set up your LSE IT account, you'll be able to access Prepare to learn at LSE to help you get off to a good start and make the most of what LSE has to offer. Work through the online activities and examples, check out the guides and videos, and reflect on your goals to learn more about what it's like to be an LSE student.

You'll discover

- what it's like to learn at LSE - and at university in the UK - for example, expectations around participating actively in class discussions,
- key skills for your everyday academic work - like reading, writing and referencing academic texts,
- where you can find help during your entire time at LSE (and beyond!) and some of the tools you'll need to get started,
- ideas to get you thinking about what it means to be part of LSE and what you want to achieve here,

Here is where you can access Prepare to learn at LSE once your LSE IT account is activated, after you pre-enrol online.

You can also have a look at some online resources about reading, writing, critical thinking, time management, and other aspects of how you'll be studying and learning at LSE already. But remember, there's no need to try to learn it all now! You'll have plenty of opportunities to develop your own learning practice and skills once you get to campus.

LSE LIFE: the place to discover & develop skills

LSE LIFE

LSE LIFE is the place to come to develop the skills you'll need to reach your goals at LSE – whether it's about academic work or other personal pursuits. They're there all year long to help you find your own ways to study and learn, think about where your studies might lead you, and make the most of your time at LSE.

LSE LIFE offers workshops and personalised one-to-one sessions where you can get advice and ask questions about reading, making notes, writing, managing your time, research, exam revision, and more!

You can already subscribe to the LSE LIFE weekly email update now to be sure to get the latest news about what's on offer all year long.

You might also find LSE LIFE's podcast series useful. The podcasts cover key skills for academic work, and each episode is accompanied by a transcript, a summary of key points, further resources, and some tasks to get hands-on practice.
