The impact of giving back

Regular giving to LSE supports priority projects which help students in financial need, enhance the student experience and improve school life. By making a gift to the American Fund for LSE today you are making a valuable investment in the future of the school.

Thank you for supporting LSE

Philanthropy is the cornerstone upon which LSE was built. Your gift to LSE is a continuation of this tradition and ensures that current and future generations can experience the lasting legacy of an LSE education. Your gift provides resources where they are most needed at LSE.

When you join fellow alumni and friends of the School in donating an unrestricted gift to the American Fund, you underpin projects that:

- provide financial assistance to talented students
- attract world class academics
- enhance the student experience
- engage the wider world in addressing the challenges of our times
- maintain LSE's international reputation for excellence in the social sciences
- create sustainable facilities and a state of the art campus.

TAX EFFICIENT GIVING

Alumni and friends based in the USA can make donations to the American Fund for LSE that are tax deductible to the full extent provided by law. The American Fund for LSE is a "501(c)(3)" non-profit organization based in New York. Tax number: 52-1908117.

You can make your gift online at lse.ac.uk/americanfund or by completing and returning the gift form to our New York Office.

THE 1895 SOCIETY

The 1895 Society comprises LSE's Philanthropic giving circles – recognising through bespoke stewardship programmes the generosity of alumni and friends. Philanthropic giving is structured in the following circles:

Shaw Circle – £1,000 - £4,999*

Wallas Circle – £5,000 - £9,999*

Webb Circle – £10,000 - £24,999*

1895 Society

*Gifts in dollars are processed at the equivalent exchange rate on day of receipt.

MATCHING GIFTS

You may work for a company that matches philanthropic gifts you make to LSE. This can significantly increase the positive effects of your gift to the School. Please contact the human resources office at your employer for information about the rules and procedures for gift matching.
